KEEP CASE SECRETPrecautions Taken to Pre-

Becoming Public Fail
After Decision Is Made.By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—To enable his wife to marry another man, the woman she confessed a "perfect domestic love" and with whom she was said in evidence to have been living in Evanston, Ill., for more than a year, Dr. Alfred Lawrence Hall-Quest, director of the University of Pittsburg extension work and well-known lecturer, has obtained a divorce.Every precaution was taken to guard the name of the man, the cultured love letters telling of her infatuation for him having been deleted from the record with his name carefully deleted. In her letters the wife pleaded for her freedom so that "social laws might not" her life with the other man, for whom she said she was ready to give up everything else in the world.After the signing of the decree
by Judge Harry A. Lewis every effort was made to shield the Hall-Quest from publicity and precautions were taken to prevent the proceedings becoming public.

Married in Minnesota.

Dr. Hall-Quest, 44 years old, was educated at Princeton and recently was a professor at Columbia University, took the degree of doctor of philosophy. He taught at the University of Illinois and University of Cincinnati and wrote a number of scientific works.He married Miss Shirley Ivy Hall-Quest in Minnesota in 1923.
He said in evidence, while he was in Columbia, she left his home in Cincinnati and came to Chicago with the other man. A few days after the divorce, she wrote to Dr. Hall-Quest a letter which was introduced as evidence, in which she said:"I wanted to show you if possible that my going away with—as necessary—because I wanted a consummation of the love that is between us, but because it seemed as we saw it the only way was an unbuilding down process.
I should have been averted."
That public scandal should be kept for your sake I can quite understand, but—and I can and will take all of the blame that belongs to our decision to live together and therefore no secrecy was even contemplated when we were married.Other letters portrayed her hope for freedom would bring ease of mind and transferring her love for the other man. The last of the letters told how hopeless would be her husband's plea for an interview in the hope of ending the situation.ENGLISH PLAN MOTOR BUS

PRINCE OF WALES TO BE GUEST OF HENRY FORDDetroit Calls Off Official Recep-

the Usual Signs.By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Oct. 8.—Tentative plans made by city officials to receive the Prince of Wales when he comes to Detroit, Oct. 14, were called off following receipt of a telegram by Acting Mayor Lodge, who said that the Prince would be a guest of Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer during the day.CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Louis F.
Swift, at whose invitation the Prince of Wales is coming to Chicago next Monday, today announced tentative plans for the entertainment of the heir to the British throne, and at the same time said that these plans might come to nothing if the Prince does not approve them upon his arrival.
According to these arrangements the Prince will be rushed to the stockyards almost as soon as he arrives in Chicago for it is this industry in which he has professed the greatest interest. Afterward there will be a ride through Chicago's south park system, a stop at the University of Chicago, a look at congested traffic in the downtown district and a stop at the Art Institute. He will see the new stadium in Grant Park, but the exclusive North Side "gold club" section may be snubbed.ACTRESS' PICTURES SHOCK HYLAN; PRODUCER ARRESTEDEarl Carroll to Fight Charge His
"Vanities" Girls' Paintings
Are Immoral.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Earl Carroll, producer of "The Vanities of 1924," at the Music Box Theater, was arrested yesterday on the charge of exhibiting in the lobby of the Earl Carroll Theater, which he owns, paintings of some of the "Vanities" girls.
For Detective Meahan of the special service division is listed as the complainant, other detectives told David Schneider, treasurer of the theater, that they had "received a complaint from Mayor Hylan."Carroll spent six hours in a cell with six negroes and a beggar, before being taken to the Night Court, where both he and his counsel pleaded with Magistrate Parrett for an immediate answer to the question: Are the paintings of the show girls immoral or artistic?
Because of the absence of a representative of the District Attorney's office and of Commissioner of Licenses Quigley, Magistrate Parrett set a hearing for tomorrow morning in West Side Court and released the producer on his own

DISCOVERED HERE
AS SIGN PAINTERWilliam A. Pierson, Former Cashier of Afton (La.) In-

Embezzling $36,000.LETTERS TO HOME
FOLKS GAVE CLEWSheriff Comes for Man Who Disappeared March 13—Prisoner Waives Extradition.Letters written to the folks back home were the clues by which William A. Pierson, missing cashier of the State Savings Bank of Afton, La., was traced to St. Louis. He was arrested early today at 4143
Maryland avenue, where he and his wife had been living under an assumed name.Pierson, who was arrested on an indictment charging embezzlement of $36,000 of the bank's funds, has been playing his adopted trade as a sign painter here since he left the little Iowa town March 13 on the eve of the discovery that the bank was insolvent. He waived extradition and was taken this afternoon to Afton, where he says he will establish his innocence of any criminal charge.Story Told by Pierson.
Pierson told detectives and reporters that the bank failed when the bottom dropped out of the cattle market and left the institution holding cattleman's paper which he had become involved through the slump in cattle.Pierson was arrested at 1:30 a.
m. at his boarding house, a few hours after Sheriff John Collins of Union County, in which Afton is situated, had arrived in St. Louis bearing the indictment of Pierson.
Accompanied by three city detectives, who had advised the arrest in the early morning hours so that the Sheriff might be sure of the presence of the former bank cashier in his home, Collins went to the boarding house where the Piersons were living, and waited downstairs while the lot of the detectives awoke Pierson.The detectives were guided to the Pierson room by a neatly lettered glass sign on the door which bore the name "H. W. Berry."
The Sheriff had said, was the name under which Pierson was living here. In a few seconds the missing cashier was standing at the door of the room sleepily inquiring what his visitors wanted.

Expresses Surprise.

"Chief wants to see you," one of the detectives said, using the customary formula."Me?" Pierson asked in apparent surprise. "For what?"At this juncture Sheriff Collins, hearing the voices on the second floor, came up the stairs and stood in the light that streamed out from the open door of the Pierson room."Why, hello, Sheriff," Pierson called in the voice of a man who was glad to see his visitor. "You've found me a treat. I'm glad it's over. If you wait a few minutes I'll go along with you."Pierson was carrying a small bundle when they left the room where his wife remained, and explained that the package contained papers which would prove his innocence of any wrongdoing in connection with the failure of the bank. "This morning he told reporters of the events pertaining to his flight to St. Louis, and of his experience here as a sign painter."I want to tell you I'm glad to be going back," he said. "I gave away my presence here when I wrote letters to some of the folks back home. I wanted to find out for one thing whether it would be good policy to go back, and anyhow, I wanted to keep in touch with the town. I gave my new name and my address so that the folks I wrote to could answer and someone told the Sheriff. Maybe it was for the best anyway.""Father Founded Bank."
Pierson was prominent in Afton—founded the Citizens' Bank of Afton in 1898, and everyone knew our family. He gave up the bank in 1908, but in 1916 he bought it back, renamed it the State Savings Bank and made me cashier."I had been graduated from the State university and he put a lot of confidence in me. I virtually controlled the affairs of the bank.
The bank's failure came when two cattleman, whom I had backed, went broke, and left the bank with $36,000 in overdrafts.""They were both prominent men, owned big farms and bought over orders of cattle. Often they overdrew their accounts, but they were always good for their over-draws."SHENANDOAH CROSSES

DOAH, Over Alabama-Mississippi Boundary, Oct. 8.—The Shenandoah, approaching the Alabama-Mississippi boundary at a speed of 56 miles an hour, 1500 feet above the wooded fields and valleys, completed the first 24 hours of its 9000-mile test voyage at 9 a. m.
Central standard time today. The airship sailed into the upper strata of Mississippi, over Columbus, with its course laid directly west across the state to reach the Mississippi River at Greenville before noon.ABOARD THE U. S. SHENAN-DOAH EN ROUTE FROM AT-LANTA TO BIRMINGHAM, Ala.,
Oct. 8.—Sailing smoothly at an altitude of 2500 feet, the Shenandoah crossed the lower tip of the Allegheny Mountains at a speed of 45 miles an hour at 6 o'clock a. m.Atlanta was passed at 4:45 a. m., just as day was breaking and the Georgia mountains were awaking.
The salvo of locomotive whistles echoed up into the clouds to the wonder of the ship. Carrollton, Ga., was passed at 5:32 a. m.The sun, a golden ball, was peeping over the eastern horizon of the Blue Ridge foothills at 6 a. m.
The haze broke away from their tops, the rays of the morning sun rippling in long lines like a new cloud field. Banks of clouds lay heavy in the valleys, the reddish dirt roads looking like ribbons among the green far below, interlacing hills tops and hidden valleys.The Hills Gaze Upward.
In some of the homes of the hills, farmers' entire families were gathered, and in the early morning farm wagons driving to the towns the occupants gazed aloft as the ship emerged from the dawn.Toward dawn the head wind which the ship had been bucking died down, and while the ship's speed through the air and the speed of its motors did not change, it sped over the ground at a rate of from 35 to 45 miles an hour due to the dying out of the wind.The course, which was laid to Atlanta, is about equal in distance to a flight from Lakehurst to Chicago.With hale winds a year ago, the Shenandoah speeded back from Chicago to its New Jersey harbor at a speed of 85 miles an hour.
Exhausted, the ship crossed the Atlantic voyage to nearly 20 hours.Dallas, Tex., should be crossed in the early evening and the moon-ing mast at Fort Worth reached shortly afterward, under the present conditions.Ideal Sailing Weather for the First Day's Voyage.9 o'clock p. m. (Tuesday)—Ideal sailing weather prevailed through the first 12 hours of the voyage, the routine went on like drift from coast to coast. Winds which are not felt on the surface were met in the upper level of the sky between 1000 and 3000 feet.At 8 p. m. the ship was driving straight into a 12-mile-an-hour current; all five motors were going; the immense gas filled tube, with its cabin and power gon-dolas, was riding as smoothly as a bed of feathers, going at 40 miles an hour. The ship at that time, had crossed the James River at Lynchburg. Lights burned in the houses beneath and in the distance along the horizon could be seen the flow of cities and villages.Aboard the big ship, limited as to quarters, and with everything stripped down to the minimum weight, the routine went on like on any naval ship at sea. Green lights were hung on port and her starboard lights glowed through the open windows of the control cabin forward and from the five motor cabins along the side the hum of the motors reached to the shadowy surface of fields, hills and forests beneath, while the tube"PURE FABRICATION," SAYS

when the famous message was sent instruction 'vote them in blocks of fifty.' In that campaign, a greater fund than had ever previously been collected for political pur-

"Ever since that time, the pro-bills designed to remedy these evils and purify American politics.

In every instance, the reactionary members of both old parties have any law that had effect."The corrupt practices act now under the statute books does not control expenditures for presidential campaigns, and the sections which applied to members of Congress were emasculated by the Supreme Court in its decision in the Newberry case. The practical effect of that decision was that any Senator could buy his nomination

but that he had to be careful in his election expenditures."Congress having failed to enact a real corrupt practices act, at the end of the last session I introduced a resolution providing for complete publication of campaign contributions and expenditures. My resolution was so drawn as to require that these records be made public before election, so that the people might know the whole truth about the use of money during the campaign before they cast their votes.""This resolution also covered not only expenditures in favor of a particular candidate, but also funds used against any candidate. Its terms are broad enough to cover every kind of expenditure and to uncover every source of campaign funds.""The committee is given full power to subpoena witnesses and

"I am advised that large sums of money are being raised and expended under the auspices of state committees of both old parties in the hope of evading any exposure of the source and amount of these funds. In my opinion, the resolution fully covers such contributions and expenditures, and I do not propose to permit them to escape the full light of publicity be-

which applied to members of Con-

fect of that decision was that any Senator could buy his nomination
but that he had to be careful in his election expenditures."Congress having failed to enact
a real corrupt practices act, at the

tion was so drawn as to require
that these records be made public
before election, so that the people might know the whole truth about
the use of money during the campaign before they cast their votes.""This resolution also covered not only expenditures in favor of a particular candidate, but also funds
used against any candidate. Its terms are broad enough to cover
every kind of expenditure and to uncover every source of campaign
funds.""The committee is given full power to subpoena witnesses and papers and to testify fully regarding the collection and use of money in the presidential campaign."Hits Both Old Parties.

"I am advised that large sums of money are being raised and expended under the auspices of state
committees of both old parties in the hope of evading any exposure
of the source and amount of these funds. In my opinion, the resolution fully covers such contributions and expenditures, and I do not propose to permit them to escape the full light of publicity before election.""The resolution authorized the

RAIGN FUND AIRCRAFT CONCERN AGAIN ORDERED TO STOP STOCK SALES

State Finance Department Alleges Company Promoted Sales After Its Permit Had Been Revoked.

The Aerocruiser Corporation of America, which has an office in the Carleton Building, has been ordered by the State Finance Department to "cease and desist from the sale of its stock."

In announcing the order yesterday, T. Hurwitz, in charge of the "blue sky" division of the Finance Department, said he had received complaints that the company had continued the sale of its stock since the department revoked its stock-selling permit July 24, 1923.

Hurwitz said he would turn the complaints over to prosecuting attorney Schweitzer of St. Louis, for investigation as to any violation of the law, in the sale of the stock following the previous order.

Incorporated in Maine, The Aerocruiser Corporation was incorporated in Maine, he licensed to do business in Missouri. It has an authorized capital stock of $5,000,000, of which $1,210,000 has been issued, according to the last report to the Finance Department.

Hurwitz said a large part of the stock issued was for promotion purposes, and that some of it went to Thomas M. Finley of St. Louis, inventor of the aircraft motor which the company proposed to manufacture.

The stock-selling permit issued to the company in 1917 was revoked in July of last year, on the ground that the funds derived from stock sales, about $200,000, had not been used to promote the company's interests—that is, to establish a plant or build up a market.

Peary Headed Concern.
In 1920, Rear Admiral R. E. Peary, of polar fame, since deceased, was elected president of the corporation, with Finley as general manager. J. H. Cline is now president; Dr. J. H. Cline, vice-president, and Joseph Jannuzzo, secretary.

Jannuzzo, in the absence of Wood and Cline, refused today to talk of the action of the State Finance Department.

The company originally planned to build a dirigible balloon to carry 300 passengers or 35 tons of freight, at 100 miles an hour. It was claimed that the craft, as designed, would rise perpendicularly regardless of wind conditions, and would be so steady that an airplane could land on top of it in the air and discharge mail or passengers.

TESTIMONY IN LINCOLN SANITY HEARING BEGUN

Brother of Confessed Slayer of Wife and Brother-in-Law First Witness for the Defense.

TELLS OF INSANITY
AMONG KINSMEN

Aurora Chief of Police Asserts Prisoner Never Appeared Mentally Sound
During Confinement.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Ill., Oct. 8.—Introduction of testimony in the proceedings to determine the sanity of Warren B. Lincoln, confessed slayer of his wife and her brother,
Byron Shoup, began in Circuit Court here today. The jury was completed late yesterday.

The first witness was Edward Lincoln, a brother of the slayer, and his partner in a greenhouse enterprise. He told of alleged insanity in the Lincoln family and of his brother's queer actions before and after the murder.

Chief of Police Michael of Aurora followed. Edward Lincoln was in custody that he believed him mentally sound.

"Sharp as a whip," he said, "and perfectly normal at most times, but so childish in his actions in other instances as to amaze one who knows him as a grown man and a lawyer who had ranked high at college."

The defense will attempt to show that the Aurora lawyer-horticulturist came of a family wherein there has been frequent insanity, and that he did not know what he did when he committed the double murder and sealed the heads of his victims side by side in a block of concrete. The prosecution will contend that Lincoln is not insane, but a cold-blooded, cunning, and cold-headed plotter, who, when arrested, confessed not once, but many times and in many forms, to confound the prosecution.

Normal, Prosecutor Says.
Evidence for both prosecution and defense was given by attorneys and laymen. For the defense, Frank Michaels, the Aurora Chief of Police, to whom Lincoln finally confessed, will testify that, in his opinion, the defendant is sane. In his opening statement to the jury yesterday, State's Attorney Charles Abbott said in part:

"We will show that Lincoln is not only a man of normal mind, but a man of exceptional mind—a man who graduated at the head of his class at Kent Law School—a man who when he went into the business of raising flowers and vegetables, became a proficient and showed marked ability. We will be able to show by people who dealt with him, conversed with him and did business with him, that he was a normal person in every respect."

"In his first confession he said that his wife killed Byron and that he killed his wife with a poker, because he was afraid of her, and he shot him. In a further confession he made a different statement as to the manner in which he killed them and later on he made another complete change. In each case, he will show, he made a complete defense for Warren B. Lincoln."

Outline of the Defense.
D. Harvey Gussell outlined the defense as follows:
"The evidence will show that Warren B. Lincoln is now a man of about 45 years of age, that he was born in Missouri, that his father's name was George Lincoln, and that his mother's name was Morris. We will show that four Lincolns married four Morris and that insanity developed in two of the four families. The evidence will show that in Lincoln's immediate family there were four boys and two girls; that the eldest boy of that family died of brain fever, that the next oldest boy died in an insane asylum. The evidence will show that one of the sisters was affected also."

MELLON ADVISED TO KEEP QUIET ON ALUMINUM TARIFF

Party Leaders Disturbed
Over Issue and Tell Him to Give Out No More Statements.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Attorney-General Stone announced, following a Cabinet meeting yesterday, that he will have the Department of Justice investigate charges in the Federal Trade Commission's report that the Aluminum Company of America is violating the court decree of 1912 and is guilty of practices prohibited by the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws.

Republican leaders are much disturbed over the potential issue injected into the campaign and are advising Secretary Mellon to make no more statements defending the aluminum tariff, or the Aluminum company. It is understood that officials of the company will reply to the Federal Trade Commission's allegation, but Mellon will stay out of the picture henceforth.

WARRANTS CHARGE THREE WITH ROBBERY MESSENGER

Trio Charged With Holding Up Employee of Industrial Loan Co.

Interim warrants were issued today against James O'Hanlon, 23 of 5192 Cabanne avenue; Charles Ross, 20, of 4335 Olive street, and Joseph Troup, 24, of 4335 Maffitt avenue, charging them with robbing Wallace F. Baker, a messenger for the Industrial Loan Co., on Aug. 22, of $2322.44 and checks.

Troup has confessed, but the other two say he is lying. Three other young men, charged with the crime, were identified and arrested. The purpose of the warrants is to hold O'Hanlon, Ross and Troup until the grand jury can take up the case tomorrow. If these three are held, the other three will be released.

William Greene Sterett Dies.
DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 8.—William Greene Sterett, 77 years old, dean of Southwestern newspaper men, who died at his home here late yesterday after a brief illness of heart trouble, was buried today. Sterett was actively engaged in newspaper work up to the time of his death. For several years he was staff correspondent at Washington for the Dallas News.

Mellon's Interest in Company.
The report of the Federal Trade Commission, which has been transmitted to the Senate in response to a resolution asking for data on household utensils, was comprehensively described in the digest made public by the commission Sunday.

Several additional sidelights were furnished in the full report, however, to show the alleged illegal and monopolistic practices of the Aluminum Co. of America and to indicate the extent of Secretary Mellon's interest in the concern.

"The Aluminum Co. of America has an authorized capitalization of $20,000,000, all common stock, of which there is outstanding $13,723,000," says the report. "Of this amount 25 per cent is held by the Charles M. Hall estate, and at least 50 per cent of the remainder, or 50 per cent of the total outstanding, is owned by the board of directors, Maria T. Hunt and A. Mellon. The remaining 15 per cent is held in small amounts by employees of the company, with the exception of a few shares in the hands of the public."

"Discussing the directorship and ownership of the company with an agent of the commission," adds the report, "Arthur V. Davis (the president), made a statement substantially as follows: 'This company really consists of A. W. Mellon and R. B. Mellon. Of course, Mr. A. W. Mellon resigned as a member of the board of directors when he went into the Government and now have six directors instead of seven. When he has finished his work in Washington he will again become a member of the board of directors.'"

R. B. Mellon is a brother of the Secretary of the Treasury. The Federal Trade Commission supports its charge that the Fordney-McCumber tariff has served to entrench the Aluminum Co. of America in its monopoly and has resulted in increased prices to the public, by a considerable mass of evidence.

FLAG TO BE FLOWN HERE PERPETUALLY FOR DEAD SOLDIER

Emblem to Be Endowed by John Dwight Filley Sr. for Son Killed in France.

An American flag will fly perpetually in the Gold Star Court of Honor, on Kingshighway, north of Easton avenue, in honor of Lieut. John Dwight Filley Jr., who made the supreme sacrifice for his country, serving in the World War with the Twenty-third Infantry, at the battle of Chateau-Thierry, in the summer of 1918.

Provision to keep the flag of our forever, starting next Armistice day, is being made by Lieut. Filley's father, who is president of the American Manufacturers' Co., and resides at 48 Westmoreland place. The exact spot in the memorial plot has not been designated.

The elder Filley gave the pole of which the flag will fly to the Home Guards camp, which was named for the Lieutenant, shortly after the son's death. The pole went to the Missouri Historical Society when the guards were disbanded and recently was turned over to the Society of World War Veterans. The War Department has held that the perpetual flying of this flag will not be an infringement of the accepted rules.

HERRIN, Ill., Oct. 8.—Resumption of liquor raiding by S. Glenn Young, through authorization or deputization of Constable Frank Roberts, has brought about greater tension in Herrin than usual and has resulted in a 50 per cent increase in the National Guard strength here.

The guard detachment, which was on duty during the grand jury proceedings, has been relieved, and half of their number added to the force here, the remainder being sent to their home at Salem. Capt. Elgelow and Lieut. Simer are both remaining on active duty here. No trouble was found in making arrests growing out of the recent grand jury indictments. Bonds have been arranged in practically all cases, except those against State's Attorney Delos Duty and City Judge E. N. Bowen of this city. Their bonds are to be fixed by Circuit Judge A. D. Somers of Harrisburg some time this week.

Arrangements Announced For Handling of Crowds At V. P. Ball at Coliseum

Guests Requested to Follow Police Routes to and From Dance—Cars Not Permitted to Stand.

The Velled Prophet Committee today issued its final instructions to the public in preparation for the Velled Prophet ball at the Coliseum tonight, calling special attention to three requests.

The first is that guests follow the routes to and from the Coliseum as designated by the police and comply with the dress regulations given on the slip inclosed with their invitations.

The second is that those arriving at the entrances in automobiles have their plans worked out beforehand for reassembling. Members of the committee emphasize that there will be no opportunity to make arrangements at the entrance for a place of meeting, as cars will not be permitted to stand at the sidewalk for last-minute instructions. The automobiles are to be unloaded in blocks of eight and will stand only long enough to discharge their passengers. Police will be on hand to see that they are kept moving and no time for conversation will be found.

Must Have Right Change.
The third request is that those arriving in taxicabs have as nearly the exact fare as possible ready before alighting from the car. If a $10 or $20 bill is given to the driver the passenger may find himself lacking his change, due to the taxicab being ordered away before the driver can give it to him. No time will be permitted for changing large bills.

The coronation of the new Queen this year is expected to take place considerably earlier than usual because the festivities at the Coliseum will not have to wait on the parade as in former years. The doors of the gallery will open at 7 o'clock, those of the ballroom at 7:30 and a concert by Gene Rodemich's orchestra, which will open the program, will start shortly after 8. The Prophet is expected to be on hand by 9 o'clock.

Miss Ruth Page to Dance.
Following the concert, which will be of about half an hour's duration, the Ladies of Honor and Maids of Honor of the Court of Love and Beauty will enter. Accompanying music will be Massenet's "Scenes Neapolitaines." The reigning Queen, Miss Grace Whitelaw Wallace, will then make her appearance, accompanied by ballet music from Goldmark's "Queen of Sheba."

The chief entertainment feature of the evening will be a ballet performance by Miss Ruth Page, of the Bolshoi Ballet Intime, assisted by the Ballet Bijou. The dances of the ensemble will be arranged and staged by Giuseppe Bonfiglio of the Metropolitan Opera Company and Miss Pages' dances by Adolph Bolm, who appeared at last year's ball.

WHIPPING OF BOY UPHELD BY COURT

Judge Miller Says Policy of Sparing Rod Is Responsible for Much Crime.

"It is a policy of sparing the rod and spoiling the child that is responsible for much of our crime waves. If fathers would take enough interest in their children to punish them when they do wrong, it would not be long before the children would do right."

So remarked Judge Calvin Miller in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday in dismissing a charge of brutality lodged against John Nickolasky, 2515 South Second street, because he chastised his 14-year-old son, John Jr., for remaining away from home after 10 o'clock at night.

"The defendant is not to be condemned, but rather should be praised for the interest he has shown in his son's welfare," the Court observed.

The fact of the boy's punishment became known on Sept. 21, last, when fellow pupils at the Humboldt School noticed welts on his back when he took a shower bath. A teacher was informed and she told police, who arrested the boy's father.

Testifying yesterday, the teacher said she regarded physical punishment as unnecessary except in rare instances. She asserted the red welts on the boy's back proved he had been brutally beaten. Judge Miller took issue with her on this, saying:

"If the beating was severe, the marks would not have been red, but black or blue or green. I know from having worn such marks on my eyes."

To the boy, Judge Miller said he hoped his father again punished him if he stayed out later than allowed. To the father he suggested the teacher be summoned to administer the next chastisement.

PROTEST PERMIT TO OPERATE CLAY PITS NEAR MERAMEC ST.

Residents in Vicinity Appeal to Fisk to Halt Contemplated Projects.

A protest against the issuance of a permit to the Hydraulic Press Brick Co. for operation of clay pits in the vicinity of Meramec and Alberta Streets and Gravois avenue was filed by Verne R. C. Lacy, an attorney representing 64 property owners of the district, at a hearing before Commissioner of Streets and Sewers Fisk yesterday.

Lacy contended that besides impairing the value of property in the restricted residence district, the pits would constitute a public nuisance and when abandoned would fill with water, causing nearby streets and building foundations to sink. He also declared the brick company contemplated using Meramec and Alberta Streets in its heavy hauling operations with only the agreement to keep holes in the streets filled during their period of use by the haulers.

Commissioner Fisk took the matter under advisement for three days.

A meeting at which property owners will discuss possible further action will be held tonight.

ADVERTISEMENT The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-Made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TWO MUSIC CONCERNS BARRED FROM MAILS

Song Writers Complain They Had Sent Money and Verses but Received Nothing.

A fraud order, forbidding use of the mails, was issued by Postmaster-General New at Washington today against the New Era Music Co. and the Music Sales Co., both of 2622 Olive street.

The order is based on an investigation by Postoffice Inspector Ward, after complaints had been received from ambitious and disappointed song writers to the effect that they had sent money and verses to the companies to be set to music and published, but received nothing in return.

The two companies and the Bell Music Co. are in one office at the Olive street address and Robert A. Bell of 551 Melville avenue, University City, is said to be general manager of all three. He could not be reached for a statement today.

Complaints against the two companies came first to the police. An Alabama man who said he had been an invalid for 25 years, wrote that he sent $18 to have a song published but never heard of it again, while songwriters from Canada, Virginia and California related that they parted with sums ranging from $15 to $25 under similar circumstances. The complaints were referred to Inspector Ward and the fraud order followed.

In the fraud order, Bell is named as general manager of the New Era Co. and Miss D. A. Healy, secretary-treasurer of the Music Sales Co. At the office it was stated today that Miss Healy was no longer with the company.

Paris Divorce for Mrs. J. Y. Brinton

PARIS, Oct. 3.—A judgment delivered June 21, granting a divorce to Mrs. Jasper Yates Brinton of Philadelphia, was published today.

Mrs. Brinton, who, before her marriage, was Miss Alice Bates McFadden, brought the suit against her husband, who defended the action and lost.

W. VA. COAL OPERATOR SHOT FROM AMBUSH

Democratic Politician Was on Way to Reopen Mines on Nonunion Basis.

By the Associated Press.
ELKINS, W. Va., Oct. 8.—Lee J. Sandridge, general manager and vice president of the Rock Island Coal Co. and well known in Democratic political circles, and three of his assistants were brought to an Elkins hospital this afternoon from Meriden, where they were shot early today by persons concealed in underbrush on a hillside. They were en route to reopen the Meriden mines on a nonunion basis when the shooting occurred.

Sandridge's condition was reported as serious. He received a charge of buckshot in the back and legs. Paul Wansley, a member of the party, was shot in the side, and attending physicians said he had only a slight chance for recovery. The other victims, Brown Talbot, mine foreman, and H. P. Currence, will recover.

The contract of the Meriden mines with the union expired on April 1 last, and since that date the mines had not been operated. Recently the company decided to reopen with nonunion labor, returning to the 1917 wage scale.

State troopers and county detectives, using bloodhounds, are trailing the assailants.

Sandridge was a delegate to the last Democratic national convention.

Children With Rickets Need Cod Liver Oil

For weak, puny, underdeveloped children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—no new up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Getty tablets for 60 cents at Wolff, Wilson Drug Co., Judges & Dolph Drug Stores, Kessler Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co. and druggists all over North America—but be sure and ask for McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Heal Skin Diseases

Apply Zemo, Clean, Penetrating, Antiseptic Liquid

It is unnecessary for you to suffer with Eczema, Itchiness, Ringworm, Rashes and similar skin troubles. Zemo will usually give instant relief from itching torture. It cleanses and soothes the skin and heals quickly and effectively most skin diseases.

Zemo is a wonderful, penetrating, disappearing liquid and is something to the most delicate skin. It is recommended for daytime use because it doesn't show. Get it today from any druggist and save all further distress. Trial bottle 35c, large size $1.00. Zemo Soap 25c.

Children Are Safe in Our Care

When you can't go out with them yourself, and don't want them to brave the traffic alone, you can call a Brown Cab or a Yellow Cab. They will be perfectly safe.

The driver will escort the little ones to the schoolhouse steps, or carry older boys and girls to the matinee or party, just as safely as if they were in your own car.

Public confidence is the most cherished asset of this company. It has been won by the careful selection of courteous, skillful and reliable drivers—men of good character.

VARIETY OF COACH TYPES AT AUTO SHOW

Illustrate Trend in All Factories—Attendance Yesterday Exceeds 12,000.

Because of the popularity the coach models have achieved in the last year or two, the variety of these closed cars at the St. Louis Automobile Show makes it doubly interesting to buyers who seek enclosed comfort at little more than open car prices.

First to introduce the coach type of automobile was the Hudson-Essex organization, and, of course, coaches on both chassis are featured in the exhibit of these two cars.

Other Coach Models.
Within the last few weeks Oldsmobile has developed a coach on its six-cylinder chassis, and this is attracting its full share of attention at the show. A coach has just been added to the Chevrolet line, and it is both practical and attractive in design. The new Velle coach is credited by the Velle organization with the buying trend that has put the Velle factory almost entirely on a closed car production basis. Durant is well up with the procession with a coach model that has all the advantages that have won this type such a following that it is said that some of the costlier lines are to build it. The Moon company, whose plant is in St. Louis, also has a coach, which is in its "Series A" line and is unusually beautiful of line.

Several manufacturers chose to call their coaches by other names. For instance, the Jewett brought out a coach which is much like a coach and is capable of being used in the same way. Then there is the Cleveland coach-sedan. The Willis-Overland company exhibits a coupe-sedan in both the Overland and the Willis-Knight lines.

Two Rollin Models.
Among the newest models announced are two in the Rollin line—a de luxe sedan and a de luxe coupe. They are illustrations of the trend in all factories toward satisfying the desires of those who wish more luxurious bodies than the standard jobs and are willing to pay the additional price.

Attendance yesterday exceeded 12,000. The show building, that of the Downtown Garage company at Ninth and Walnut streets, is proving an almost ideal place for such an exhibition.

In addition to the main show, the Tate Motor Co., Dodge distributor; the Cadillac Automobile Co., and the Hudson-Prampton Motor Car Co., Hudson-Essex distributor, are holding shows of their own in their buildings. The Men-denhall Motor Co. is celebrating the formal opening of its new building on Locust street, and the Willard Storage Battery Co. will hold a housewarming tonight to which all automobile dealers in the city have been invited.

Still on Boat Explodes, Killing Boy. By the Associated Press. PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 8.—James Rose, 18 years old, was burned to death, and his mother, Mrs. Zella

Rosa, was burned as he was in a houseboat, their home, which was destroyed last night when a fire broke out on the side of the boat exploded.

IRISH MINISTER PRESENTS CREDENTIALS TO COOLIDGE

Free State Establishes Diplomatic Relations With U. S.—Messages of Good Will Exchanged.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Diplomatic relations with another nation were established by the Irish Free State for the first time yesterday when Timothy W. Smiddy, newly appointed Minister of that state to this country, presented his credentials to President Coolidge at the White House.

It was announced also that the American consulate at Dublin had been raised to the grade of Consulate-General. At formal ceremonies customary to such occasions, Smiddy presented his credentials to Coolidge.

Coolidge declared it was "of special gratification" that the first envoy designated to represent his state should be received by this country, "to which Ireland is bound by ties of kinship, and towards which it entertains the fullest sentiments of gratitude and regard." The President reciprocated a message of good will expressed by Smiddy, declaring it afforded "the greatest pleasure to welcome you as the representative of the Interests of a people which has contributed so largely to the development of the United States and to which so many of our citizens are bound by the closest ties of relationship and sentiment."

A confession stating that he has passed at least 100 worthless checks on St. Louis storekeepers in the past year has been obtained from a prisoner who described himself as William Reitz, 40 years old, of 8449 Wisconsin avenue. Reitz was arrested yesterday on the complaint of a packing house which charged that he purchased a quantity of meat, charged it to a county roadhouse, and then sold it at a sacrifice for cash. They refused to prosecute, but questioning passing activities.

Most of the worthless checks ranged from $10 to $25, the largest being for $140 which he passed by buying $134 worth of furniture and getting $6 in change. Reitz found it very easy to make purchases at small groceries and meat markets, pay by check, and later pocket the change and abandon the purchases.

A Service to Humanity

Fifty years ago five Sisters of St. Mary, who had served the injured in the Franco-Prussian War, came to St. Louis from Bavaria. They established meager quarters in the second story of a small house on Second street, from which they ministered to the poor and sick. While enduring many privations, they went into the homes and nursed the afflicted during an epidemic of smallpox, followed by an epidemic of cholera. In 1877, three years after they came, they established a small hospital on the site of the present St. Mary's Infirmary.

Thus was founded a great charity. The Sisters worked quietly and faithfully, their foremost aim being the care of the sick poor. For many years it was necessary for the Sisters to make house-to-house solicitation for funds to meet annual deficits and a constantly growing financial burden.

Today, the Sisters of St. Mary conduct three great institutions of charity in our city—St. Mary's Infirmary, Mount St. Rose Sanatorium for Tuberculosis and the new St. Mary's Hospital. The Sisters receive no salary, and have dedicated their lives to hospital service.

The cost of the buildings with which to carry on their work is not the Sisters' only problem—the institutions must be maintained. None of these hospitals have been self-sustaining since their founding. Each year the care of charity patients, which forms a large part of their work, has cost more than the amount received from pay-patients.

St. Mary's Infirmary has the proud record of doing more charity work than any other hospital affiliated with the Saturday and Sunday Hospital Association, comprising all St. Louis hospitals doing free service. In 1916, the American College of Physicians and Surgeons in its first survey of St. Louis, ranked St. Mary's Infirmary A-1, thus testifying to its high efficiency. Later the General Education Board (Rockefeller Foundation) gave the Infirmary the same rating. This was the first private hospital in St. Louis to be so ranked.

In recognition of this excellent work and personal sacrifice of the Sisters of St. Mary, this campaign is inaugurated to help pay the debt of the new St. Mary's Hospital, and to endow St. Mary's Infirmary and make it virtually a free hospital. When St. Mary's Hospital is assured that it is free from debt, a part of the funds now diverted to it can be used by the two other institutions—St. Mary's Infirmary and Mount St. Rose Sanatorium.

Briefly, the method of raising the endowment is for the men and women of St. Louis to take out a five-year endowment life insurance policy payable to the Sisters of St. Mary. An insurance company will bear the expense of solicitation and collection. The Sisters will receive the face value of each policy, plus dividends, at the end of five years, or at the death of the insured if within five years. Policies will be issued in amounts of $500 or more.

To express their gratitude, the Sisters of St. Mary have agreed to give each person who takes out a policy for $1000 or over free hospital and medical attention at St. Mary's Infirmary for the rest of his or her natural life.

Nothing appeals more strongly to the heart than the achievements of charity. Let's help St. Mary's

The Insurance Plan

Five-year endowment policies are being issued in amounts of $500 or more by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to persons between the ages of 10 and 65 years of age, payable to the Sisters of St. Mary.

Each man or woman taking out a policy for $1000 or more is entitled to free medical and hospital service at St. Mary's Infirmary for the rest of his or her life.

The premiums are payable annually, semi-annually or quarterly. At the end of five years the face value of the policy, with earned dividends, will be paid to the Sisters of St. Mary.

If the insured dies within five years, all payments cease and the face value of the policy will be paid to the Sisters of St. Mary at once.

Insurance is selected as the means by which this fund shall be raised. It is a practical, businesslike method for endowing your hospital.

VEILED PROPHET PARADE PRESENTS BRILLIANT SCENE

Hundreds of Thousands Greet Potentate Along the Seven-Mile Route of the Procession.

Floats in the parade of the Veiled Prophet last night turned from the prophet's quiet den into the throbbing surge of life along the route in the same transition with which St. Louis turned for the time from a workaday city to the celebrating capital of the land of Make Believe.

The 26 floats, in the den, were so many trucks bearing gaudy decorations of the carpenter, plasterer and painter. On the street they were the caravan of a mysterious, kindly, Oriental potentate, displaying to his subjects the wonders of jewels and talismans from his vaults. On Monday the city was the metropolis of the Mississippi, its workers, merchants, school boys and women going their separate ways. Yesterday the air was filled with a happy expectancy, with the hunting everywhere.

Forty-fifth Parade in 47 Years. Thus for the forty-fifth time in 47 years the city momentarily transferred its allegiance to the monarch of Make Believe. Thus the spirit of the people has been shown each autumn, save two war years, since 1878. Throngs of persons from the surrounding country, as usual, came also to see and hear. A movie spectacle producer surely would have given much for such a turnout before his story lenses.

Ranken avenue and Walnut street was a compelling corner at 7 o'clock last night, but only a few dozen of the curious gathered there. Approaching, negro scribe bearers, canouflaged in iron yellow coats, were seen first. Then stamping horse teams, white-robed drivers, red-coated, mounted men on prancing steeds, some of them policemen talking shop, others, young business men, in the uniform of the Prophet's Guard, singing college songs. A barn-like building, with cold, dark floats, end to end, and modern men in the habiliments of ancient gallants and ladies, fitting grotesque masks.

Plumed Heralds in Lead. There was a sharp cry. Doors swung open. Workmen ran down the incline with the floats. Teams were attached. Four plumed heralds started forth on dark Ranken avenue promptly at 7:15. A platoon of mounted policemen swung in behind them, and a band. They led the way to Laclede avenue where the waiting crowd began.

The Veiled Prophet's throne float came. Its lights flashed on as the trolley touched the wire. The crowd's murmur instantly broke into a burst of sound. Not cheers, not hand clapping, not the tumult of a rabble, but a full-throated expression of pleasure and

Modesty Is Charming but health is vital

Growing girls should realize elimination is necessary; constipation dangerous. Mothers, urge use of Dr. Caldwell's Pepsin Syrup

THE world is broadening and there is less excuse for prudery today than ever before. Parents and school teachers are helping by telling their children the fundamental facts of life.

The growing girl, therefore, who neglects the important function of elimination is living in a past age. She should realize that when days go by and there is no passage the general health is impaired, the monthly function is interfered with and fatal illness may result.

Mothers would do well to watch adolescent daughters for they, more than young boys, are prone to this in regard. Elimination should occur once a day, and if it does not, a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be given. You will thus prevent intestinal poisoning and constipation and their train of disorders, sallow skin, pimples, lassitude, bad breath, headache and so forth.

Mrs. Jesse Maxey, 106 Third street, Aurora, Ind., and Mrs. Pat McCullough, Tampa, Fla., regularly use Syrup Pepsin in their households, and as a result their families are free from sickness.

It is not without reason that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is today the most widely used liquid laxative in the world.

over 10 million bottles being sold annually. It is mild and gentle in action and free from griping, a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics, a safe laxative from which opiates and narcotics are entirely absent.

After using Syrup Pepsin you will understand why people discard the harsher physics and cathartics, pills, powders and salt waters. Others, too, no longer give children "candy cathartics," as they may cause slow eruptions. They prefer a safe laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, made from plants and vegetables, the prescription of Dr. W. B. Caldwell, who practiced medicine for forty-seven years. Buy a bottle. A dose costs you on an average of less than a cent.

Free Sample Bottle Coupon

There are people who very rightly prefer to try a thing before they buy it. Let them clip this coupon, pin their name and address to it, and send it to the Pepsin Syrup Co., 518 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois, and a free sample bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will be sent them postpaid by mail. Do not inclose postage. It is free.

Shaking down ashes, carrying them out, paying big fuel bills, is enough to make anybody "blue up the air."

But why put up with it? For less money you can burn St. Louis By-Product Coke and be forever rid of dirt, smoke and soot. Set the grates straight when you lay the first fire. You will not need to touch them after that. Use the poker through the feed door to stir up the fire. There will be few ashes, for nearly all of the coke goes up into the house in clean, comfortable heat. Easy to control, too.

Have our demonstrator tell you just what size coke to burn. He will return after your coke has been delivered and show you how to burn it. This service is FREE. Call Central 1800.

Hellrung & Grimm

South and Washington
Sixteenth and Cass

Washington, where thousands of guests arriving at the ball in evening dress presented a counter attraction in former years, was not so thronged this time.

Roofs and signboards everywhere were seized upon by the adventurous for lofty and unobstructed views. It seemed there were fewer stake wagons in cross streets, with seats for rent, than formerly.

The story of the floats was that of precious stones—whence they come, why men want them, legends about them—and of tallmums of luck. The Prophet sat in traditional splendor with his crown and white veil, beneath a canopy that led some to suspect His Majesty of being a sympathizer with the Republican party—were there not six elephants rampant, in the best G. O. P. manner, atop the canopy? Perhaps the most realistic float was "The Jewel Galleon," done in the style of ship models now much sought after for house decoration. The "Cat's Eye" was impressive, too, with its four cats and two horned devils, all with winking, jeweled eyes; there were tallmums for you. The preannounced order of floats was not followed, and the diamond brought up the rear. The pageant required 20 minutes to pass a point.

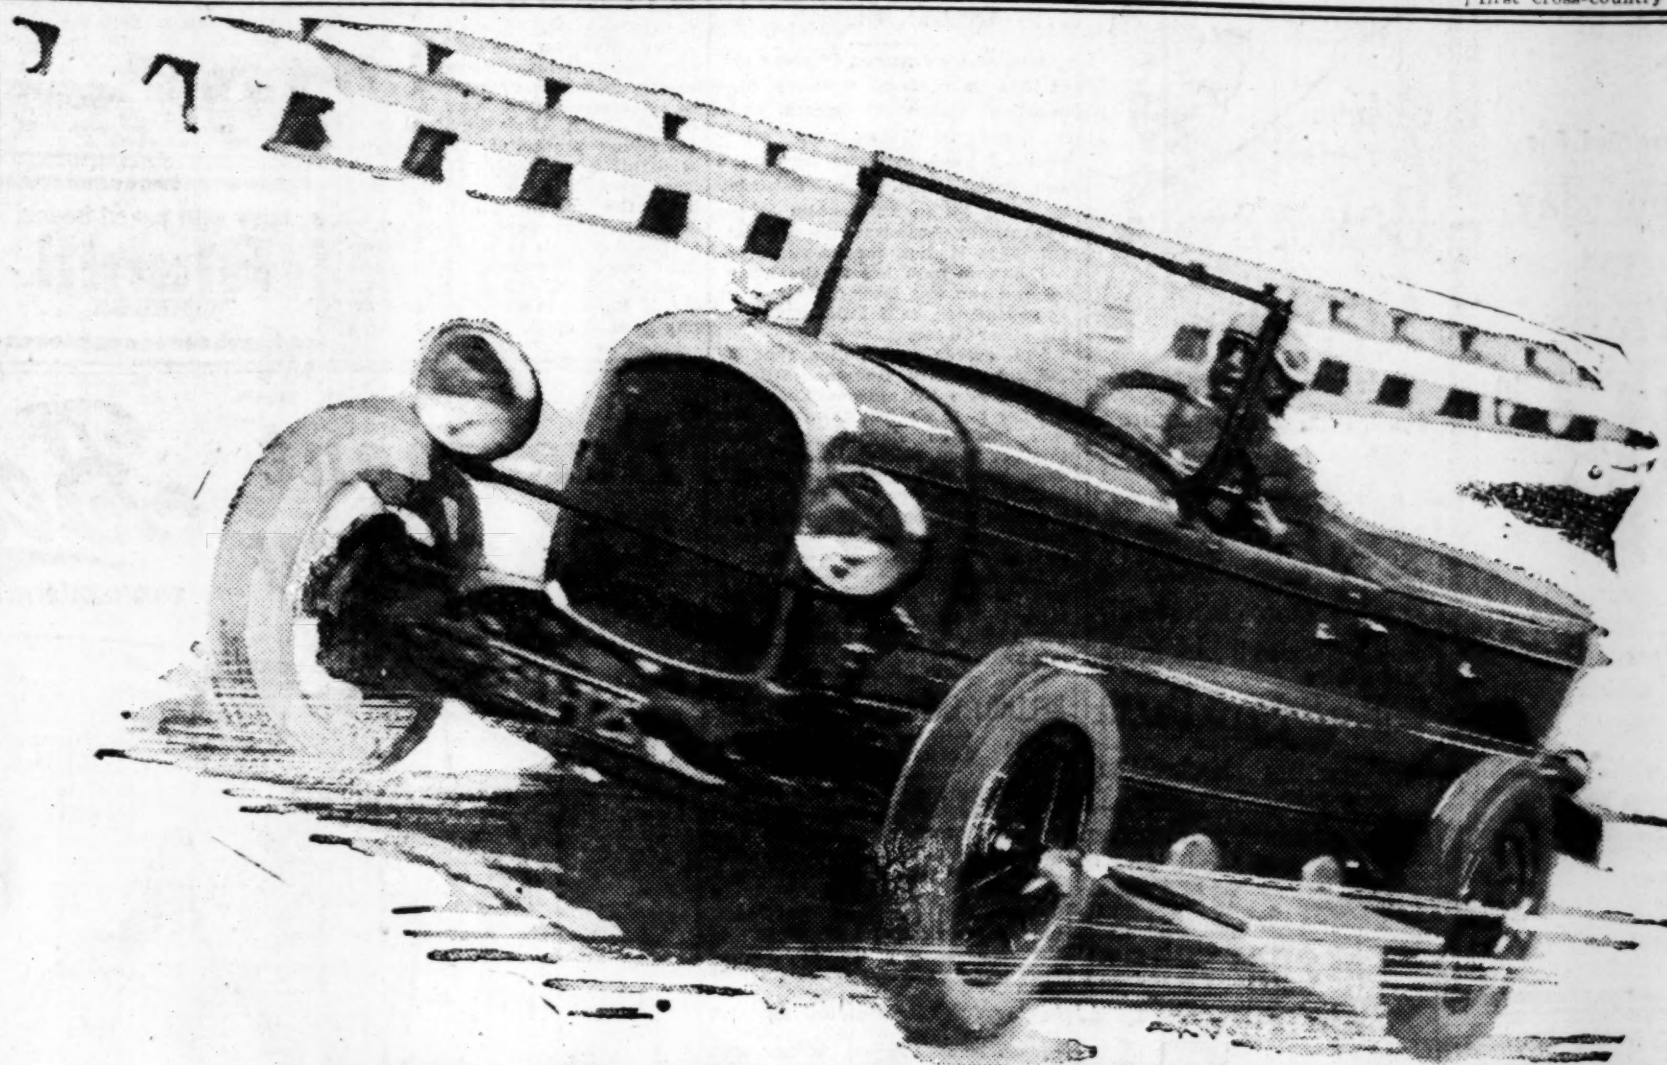

This year, for the first time, the prophet is holding his Court of Love and Beauty on the night after his procession. This gave many habitual attendants of the ball their first chance last night to see the parade. In one group, at Vandeventer and McPherson avenues, were Miss Grace Wallace, reigning queen of the court, who will give way to another at tonight's ball at the Coliseum, and Misses Audrey Faust and Lucy Terry, who have been maids of honor. They were having a great time pelting policemen with confetti.

Today, in St. Louis, there is many a happy sigh in recollection of the annual metamorphosis into the land of Make Believe.

Nine Bankers to Make Night Flight
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The first cross-country flight ever attempted at night in this country by a formation of airplanes will be made the night of Oct. 10 from Langley Field, Va., to Mitchell Field, N. Y., by nine Martin bomber airplanes. It was announced at the War Department today. The flight will be commanded by Maj. O. Westover of Langley Field, the purpose of the flight being to demonstrate the feasibility of a quick change of base by a bombardment group at night.

1000 Miles In 1007 Minutes

Analyze And Digest These Amazing Facts

The car—Chrysler Six, Strictly Stock.
Date—September 17th.
Place—Fresno, Calif., Track.
Occasion—Los Angeles Times Trophy Cup Contest.
Driver—Ralph de Palma.
Distance—1,000 Continuous Miles.
Time—1,007 Minutes, 54 Seconds.
Average Speed—59.54 Miles Per Hour.
Actual Running Time—878 Minutes, 10 8-10 Seconds.
Actual Average Speed—68.33 Miles Per Hour.
Timers—A. A. A. Representatives.

Here is a record-breaking demonstration of stamina and dogged endurance—A demonstration the like of which the automotive industry, with all its heroic achievements on road and track, has never witnessed before—A demonstration of something far greater than breathless speed—A demonstration that, most of all, proves superb engineering and materials and workmanship of the highest order, equal to heartbreaking demands to which no car is ever submitted by its owner.

A Chrysler Six stock car, driven by Ralph de Palma, won the Los Angeles Times Trophy Cup on the Fresno, Calif., track, Sept. 17th, by covering 1,000 miles in 1,007 minutes, 54 seconds, of elapsed time.

Deducting the time consumed by necessary stops such as for gas, oil, tires etc., the actual net running time was 878 minutes, 10 8-10 seconds.

The average speed was 68.331 miles per hour.

The Chrysler Six used for this amazing demonstration was strictly a stock car—exactly the same in every particular as the car you buy from the salesroom floor—no change in gear ratio and absolutely stock to the last bolt and nut.

It was certified as a stock car by the committee under the rules of the contest.

Its time was clocked and certified by three associated members of the A. A. A.

Speed was not the prime purpose of this demonstration. The Chrysler Six was already known far and wide as a car that will deliver better than 70 miles an hour if anyone cares to go that fast.

But driving 1,000 miles in 878 minutes is something far more than an exhibition of speed.

Such an experience would rack to pieces the car of ordinary construction and materials long before the 1,000 miles were rolled off.

To accomplish that feat requires hitherto unrealized stamina and endurance, engineering of unquestioned soundness and superiority, materials and workmanship of the highest order.

No owner cares to drive 1,000 miles in 878 minutes. But if he has a car that can make such a record he knows that he has one that will do more than he will ever ask of it, that it will have long life and cost amazingly little to maintain.

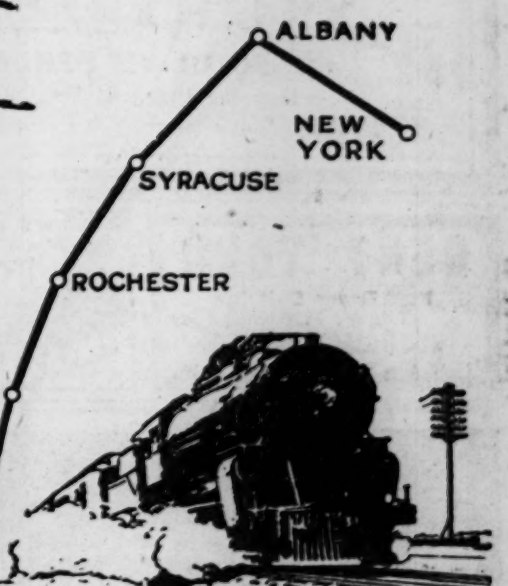

And the Chrysler Six you select from the salesroom floor is exactly the same as the Chrysler Six with which Ralph de Palma made his record.

Certification of time by A. A. A. representatives, but not certification of stock car which was certified to by the CONTEST COMMITTEE of the Los Angeles Times

Faster Than The "Century"

Observe the map showing the run of the Twentieth Century Limited from New York to Chicago, via Albany, Buffalo and Cleveland.

Compare the performance of the Chrysler Six with that of the New York Central's crack train which has the advantage of tracks and road-bed always in first class condition and carefully guarded.

The Twentieth Century Limited covers the 978 miles between New York and Chicago in 20 hours. Allowing for stops, the average speed is between 50 and 55 miles per hour.

There are several changes of engine and engine crews during the run.

The Chrysler Six covered its 1,000 miles in 14 hours, 38 minutes and 10 8-10 seconds with the same man driving the same car continuously.

The 1,000 miles would take it from New York to Chicago over the Twentieth Century's route and 22 miles beyond, or within 15 miles of Joliet, Ill.

AUTO INJURIES FATAL TO WOMAN

Mrs. Hulda Buemer, 53, Suffered Fractured Skull in Accident Saturday.

Mrs. Hulda Buemer, 53 years old of 2926 Palm street, a widow, died today at Christian Hospital of a fractured skull suffered when knocked down, at Grand boulevard and Palm street, last Saturday morning, by an automobile driven by Anthony Jannuzzo, an accountant, 2509 Hodiamont avenue. Jannuzzo took her to the hospital and she was later identified by John Buemer, 2922 Palm street, as his sister-in-law. The driver told police that he did not see Mrs. Buemer until she walked into his automobile, striking her head against the door. She was knocked down. Miss Anna Cooper, 3540 North Grand boulevard, who witnessed the accident, said Mrs. Buemer walked into the machine with her head down. Jannuzzo was held under bond on a charge of felonious wounding. Her death was the one hundred and thirty-third motor vehicle fatality in St. Louis in 1924, as compared with 95 for the same period last year.

BELLBOY ENDS LIFE WITH POISON IN RESTAURANT

A young man entered a restaurant at 204 North Ninth street at 9 p. m. yesterday, sat at the counter and thumbed the menu until the waitress passed into the kitchen. Then he drew from his pocket a 6-ounce bottle of acid, emptied it in a water glass and drank it. As the waitress returned, he toppled unconscious from the counter stool. Taken to City Hospital, he died two hours later without regaining consciousness. Papers in his pockets led to his identification as George Duler, 27 years old, a bell-boy of 2677 Olive street. Investigation developed he purchased the poison a few minutes before at a drug store at Ninth and Pine streets. No explanation for his act was obtained.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

I was constantly filled with gas, and no medicine helped me permanently until I tried a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy at that time with excellent results. ## "Shall I discharge him for it?"

ANDREWS, senior partner of the firm, was in a quandary. One of his salesmen, an engaging young fellow and possessing the finest approach to prospective purchasers, simply failed to make any kind of a showing at all.

In a confidential talk with him one afternoon, Andrews discovered the reason. Yet he didn't know whether to tell him about it or simply discharge the man. What would you have done?

You, yourself, rarely know when you have halitosis (unpleasant breath). That's the insidious thing about it. And even your closest friends won't tell you.

Sometimes, of course, halitosis comes from some deep-seated organic disorder that requires professional advice. But usually—and fortunately—halitosis is only a local condition that yields to the regular use of Listerine as a mouth wash and gargle. It is an interesting thing that this well-known antiseptic that has been in use for years for surgical dressings, possesses these unusual properties as a breath deodorant.

Test the remarkable deodorizing effects of Listerine this way: Rub a little onion on your fingers. Then apply Listerine and note how quickly the onion odor disappears.

This safe and long-trusted antiseptic has dozens of different uses; note the little circular that comes with every bottle. Your druggist sells Listerine in the original brown package only—three sizes: three ounce, seven ounce and fourteen ounce. Buy the large size for economy.—Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, U. S. A.

LA FOLLETTE SEN
IN OSAGE COUNTY ACTIVE ISSU

indications Are That Na
Both Major Parties Will German V

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ROLLA, Mo., Oct. 8.—Four democratic candidates for State office, on a two weeks' automobile campaign tour of South Central and Southeast Missouri, yesterday traversed on their first day a route which took them into a territory where there is a very pronounced sentiment for Senator La Follette for the presidency, and where there was evidence of something of the Klux Klan influence in the campaign.

They crossed Osage and Marion counties, in which there are many Germans of German origin, and last night reached Rolla. Phelps County, in which there are several hundred German vote in Osage County is estimated to be approximately 10 per cent of the total vote of the county, and in contrast to the situation in most German communities, a very considerable number usually vote the Democratic ticket. In Marion County the proportion is not quite as high.

The La Follette sentiment was emphatically pronounced in the vicinity of Freeburg, in Osage County, and was found to some extent in Westphalia, where it is said every family, except two, is of German origin. What proportion of the voters will cast their ballots for the La Follette electors, of course, cannot be told with any approaching definiteness, but men well informed in Osage County politics, men who mingle with the residents of the county, asserted the vote would be more than what appeared on the surface.

To a stranger, few of the rank and file, met on the streets and in stores, would express any opinion on the La Follette strength, but they would even express their views on the subject, but the emotion gathered from other areas was that among their neighbors these men talked freely of that many of them were for a Wisconsin Senator.

Loss to Both Major Parties. It appears probable that on the basis of the best information available to La Follette, though from the fact that Osage is normally a Republican county, it may be assumed that the Republicans will be the greater. In an ordinary electoral election Osage returns a Republican plurality of about 60. In the off-year election of 1932 it was 60.

Some of the indications of a tendency of the voters in this county, the recalling of the vote of 1932, when all German communities went heavily for Senator La Follette, will not be out of place. Osage County gave Reed a plurality of 1937. In the other candidates it was a Republican, giving Baker, Republican, for State Superintendent of Education, 1939 and Lee, Democrat, 1941.

Well-informed politicians yesterday said there was a possibility of a tendency of the voters in this county, the recalling of the vote of 1932, when all German communities went heavily for Senator La Follette, will not be out of place. Osage County gave Reed a plurality of 1937. In the other candidates it was a Republican, giving Baker, Republican, for State Superintendent of Education, 1939 and Lee, Democrat, 1941.

Today, Texas Co. is being sold to the British. The British are buying it for $100,000,000. The British are buying it for $100,000,000. The British are buying it for $100,000,000.

By the Associated Press. BELFAST, Oct. 8.—Sir James Haughey, Premier of Ulster, at the meeting of Parliament yesterday, said that the British Government was finally fixed so that it would be accepted to Ulster. "Well, good."

On the other hand, he declared, a member who was named as the member of the Boundary Commission, if the decision was acceptable to Ulster, he would hesitate a moment, if there was no other honorable way out, and place himself at the disposal of the people, no longer a member, but as the chosen leader of the people. He said he might consider had been transferred from Ulster, and the flag of the Republic.

Major Service Said. NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8.—The United Dry Dock and Ship Repair Co. filed in Federal Court yesterday a suit for $36,425 against the United States Government for alleged failure to carry out its obligations to repair and maintain the ship in 1926 calling for repairs.

Disabled Veterans Protest.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

BELIEVING in the principles as laid down by our forefathers, and expressed by them in the Constitution of the United States, we, the undersigned disabled veterans, in vocational training at the Missouri Botanical Gardens, do hereby unqualifiedly endorse the resolutions as adopted on Sept. 27, 1924, by the Thirty-Fifth Division convention at Kansas City, Mo.

We also wish to pay our respects to the Steuben Society which recently adopted resolutions endorsing the candidacy of Senator Robert La Follette, and in which they stirred the name of our late Commander-in-Chief, Woodrow Wilson, by using the following language as published in the Post-Dispatch: "Have any of us forgotten that during the war citizens of our race were persecuted with relentless bitterness and put to much grief, humiliation and suffering under the specious pretext that they were lacking in patriotism? The Democratic President added fuel to the flames of the domestic race conflict thereby created by harping on the United States, and charges against his fellow-citizens of German blood, declaring them hyphenates and persons of divided loyalty and dual citizenship."

This insult should be resented by every true American citizen, and especially those of German descent. While those of German blood mentioned above were in the front-line trenches, fighting for their adopted or native country, such characters as those comprising the Steuben Society and of the kind of stuff of which their candidate is made, were doing everything within their power to retard their success in ending the war.

Having no desire to have our children or grandchildren doing the "house-step" under the command of a Kaiser, Crown Prince or Von Hindenburg, we hereby pledge our undivided support to the Hon. John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President of the United States, and again express our love and reverence of our former Commander-in-Chief, and also pledge ourselves to ever resent any insult offered any deceased President. "Our Country—right, or wrong, our Country."

Obstructing the Fire Department.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

HAVING an office near one of the busiest uptown corners, I would like to call your attention to some of my observations.

A fire engine passes this corner quite frequently, sometimes two or three times a day. Motorists, when they hear the fire bell, are supposed to pull over to the curb or at least get out of the way, are they not? Well, I have seen them come right on down the street so that the fire engine must get out of their way. That is not to be expected of the firemen, who, thinking they have a clear street, increase their speed, only to find some idiot coming down the street directly in the path of the fire engine.

OBSERVATIONIST.

When Courtesy Means Safety.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I READ with interest a letter published in the Sunday Post-Dispatch asking that motorists use more care in avoiding dumb animals. This is truly a worthy cause but how about a little more care in avoiding the poor human who must cross streets across? I do not know how many persons have been killed in St. Louis this year, but it is certain that the number is too large. How can we expect drivers to look out for dumb animals when they don't look out for children?

Let me relate an experience I had a week ago last Sunday. My wife and I, with our son in his perambulator, were out for a walk and had to cross Olive Street road, one block east of Persimmon. Being rather inexperienced in the art of pushing a baby buggy, I was somewhat cautious in crossing Olive street. After waiting nearly five minutes, but made a wild dash to get across, but found ourselves marooned in the center of the street. Finally, after several minutes in this perilous position, one "gentleman" driving a large car, stopped and held up traffic behind him to let us across. When I say "gentleman," I mean it in the true sense of the word in contrast to the two or three hundred other drivers who kept a heavy foot on the gas.

So let's give the fellow on foot a chance.

THE ROAD WRECKER.

There was a meeting of women voters in St. Louis the other day at which the subject of good roads was discussed generally and the necessity of adopting Proposal No. 5 was particularly stressed. It was shown that the great project which Missouri undertook when the people authorized the $60,000,000 bond issue is not a failure. That the results are disappointing cannot be disputed, but those results are chargeable to the policy and construction plan devised by the Legislature, which required the building of roads simultaneously in all of our 114 counties.

Just the same, Missouri is on the way to good roads. As one of the speakers said, a State highway system in Missouri is "just around the corner." One more shove and we will have it. The adoption of Proposal No. 5 is that shove. With the money which a gasoline tax and an increased license fee will provide, the Highway Commission will be enabled to maintain the roads already constructed and rush the remainder of the program to completion. When that program is completed we shall have, in truth, a State highway system that will give Missouri a place of distinction in the matter of good roads.

There would be little doubt as to the adoption of this proposal if it were not for Gov. Hyde. The Governor insists upon making a partisan political question of this enterprise. He is trying to give the impression that the Democratic party of Missouri and its candidate for Governor, Dr. Nelson, are opposed to this proposal and that if Dr. Nelson should be elected the road program would be jeopardized.

To characterize such assertions as nonsense is not sufficient. They are maliciously false. They are the utterances of a demagogue who, seemingly, will stop at nothing to win a partisan advantage. For, whether he knows it or not, Gov. Hyde is endangering Proposal No. 5 in this insulting the Democratic citizens of Missouri by maligning their party and their candidate for Governor. He is insulting citizens who have given years of study and effort to good roads before he himself had ever thought about the question.

When he was a candidate for Governor in 1920 Mr. Hyde professed his belief in good roads, but though the amendment to authorize the $60,000,000 bond issue was then before the people, he did not advocate its adoption. He dodged taking a position on it. He confessed that he did not know what kind of road law should be passed and gave it as his opinion that "good roads is more a question of the personnel of the Highway Commission and of creating a sentiment for good roads than it is a question of the kind of a law."

As a candidate for Governor Mr. Hyde straddled the road bond amendment and as Governor he failed to comprehend the magnitude of the enterprise the State had undertaken and failed abjectly to take a proper part in directing the road legislation.

Since 1920 Mr. Hyde has played politics with the road project. He played miserable politics when he refused to call a special session of the Legislature to meet a situation which his own appointee, Chairman Gary of the Highway Commission, described as a crisis. He is playing politics now. If Proposal No. 5 is beaten and the road work is thereby wrecked, the wrecker will be Arthur M. Hyde.

INCREASING AUTOMOBILE DEATH LIST.

The constant increase in automobile fatalities in our streets—132 to date, against 98 in the same period last year—forcibly suggests the need of further changes and improvements that will not only improve traffic conditions but make for greater safety. Other large cities have a similar problem, and what they are proposing to do in the way of relief is of interest.

London, which has several subways, in addition to surface transportation that is adequate if it could proceed with facility, suffers, as we do, for lack of room. The main thoroughfares are few and most of the streets are narrow. Congestion of traffic prevails over a district about three or four miles long and about two miles wide. Street widening, the cutting of new roads, tunnels for vehicles, and aerial roads are being considered.

THE WONDER IS NOT THAT THIS (CORRUPTION) WAS SO MUCH OR SO MANY (CORRUPTIONISTS), RATHER THAT IT HAS BEEN SO LITTLE AND SO FEW.

—President Coolidge in His Speech to the Associated Press on April 22

ered. The street-widening projects and the proposed subway for St. Louis cannot be begun and finished too soon.

In New York the head of the traffic department, calling attention to the loss of life due to vehicles, also says that the present congestion causes a loss of a million dollars a day to merchants, whose trucks and cars cannot make way through the streets. One of his suggestions is for more one-way streets, making every cross-town street up to Fifty-ninth a one-way street. He also holds that the size and weight of trucks should be limited; a universal skip-stop system used for street cars, and traffic rules enforced against pedestrians as well as drivers of vehicles.

As to the speeding up of our subway proposition, Detroit, which is to have a subway system, is being reminded, by the Detroit News, that such a system not only helps largely to solve the traffic problem, but is a wonderful promoter of property values. In New York City, says the News, the moment rapid transit was assured, and before the digging of the subway had been started or a yard of rail laid, values multiplied from seven to fourteen times. A person who had bought a lot for $1000 could sell it for not less than $7000 the next morning after the city had decided to build a subway through the neighborhood in which the lot was located. And this has occurred in every city where rapid transit has been achieved.

Our traffic problem is a difficult one. But every step taken towards its solution will pay for the time and trouble a thousand fold, in the saving of human life, in greater comfort for all citizens, and in actual money values.

THE LAST THREE-CORNERED RACE.

The Post-Dispatch of 1912, the last year of a three-cornered election, lacked the news and correspondence service it has today. Election forecasts and straw ballots were few. As the election turned out Wilson had 435 electoral votes, Roosevelt 88 and Taft only 8. Of course, the respective managers claimed nearly everything from the start. As early in October as the present there were no general forecasts.

On Oct. 28 we find an interesting interview with James Campbell, president of the North American Co., who had just returned to St. Louis after a month's absence in New York. "Up to a few weeks ago," said Mr. Campbell, "President Taft seemed to be making good headway, but there has been a pause in his campaign. Polls of New York by Republican leaders indicate that Taft will carry that State by a substantial plurality. Neither that result nor the prospects of Wilson or Roosevelt seem certain to me."

In this account we have a parallel of the strong beginning and the doubtful ending of the Coolidge cause. And what of the Wilson parallel with Mr. Davis? Said Mr. Campbell:

Wilson seems to have a large following, but I find no great enthusiasm anywhere for any of the candidates for President. It is just as quiet around Greater New York as it would be in St. Louis if an election for minor officers were about to take place.

We find the familiar fear of business men, according to Campbell, that the Democratic candidate lacked business capacity and that his election, with reduction of the tariff, would unsettle business.

On Nov. 3, two days before the election, McCombs, the Democratic chairman, did not concede a single state to either of the two opponents. Hill, Republican, said that nothing short of a political revolution, of which there was no indication, could place the re-election of Taft in jeopardy. Dixon, for the Progressives, predicted a Roosevelt landslide. Based on most comprehensive reports from every state chairman of the Progressive party, he declared:

It now seems certain that Roosevelt will carry 25 states, having a total of 297 electoral votes. Wilson will carry 12 states having 130 electoral votes. Ten states having a total of 104 electoral votes I believe to be doubtful.

The staggering result was brought about by a split in the Republican party and a united Democracy.

Sir: A book is promised, by Daniel Gregory Mason, written at the instance of the National Federation of Music Clubs. Under these auspices the book will be taken as the platform of the serious and disinterested votaries of music in America. A sample chapter of the book appeared recently in the Outlook. Some extracts presented here must not be taken as representing the book; they represent the purpose of this note and are (in the book) merely incidental to the aim already indicated.

Mr. Mason says opera had its beginning 225 years ago; he quotes Parry: "Constantly from the first the opera-going public has defeated the finest utterance of the greatest genius." Mr. Mason cites an outrage on Wagner in a production of "Tannhauser" in 1911 in Paris as an illustration of the casting of the opera-going public before those who preferred something else for their money. This occurs: one of a sheaf of accusation against opera audiences: "The obligation of intelligent interest is by no group so ignored as by opera goers." The "master" of opera audiences, the reaction of an opera audience to art, is generally the reaction of those who are able to pay for pleasures, who spend their money for things with "kick" in them, with little share in the artist's dream of a holier humanity and a heavenlier earth. I state it as the opinion of one, that this outdoor opera in Saint Louis is educating a clientele who will at length give operatic art its long-postponed hearing.

Here again appears the oft cited fact that civilization is a veneer, wholly on the outside, and very thin. Art cannot fail. It is people (peoples) who fail. This also is the answer to the familiar question, "What is the matter with the church?" The obligation of intelligent interest is shirked. Whoever sweeps a circle of culture about himself (herself) that leaves the virgin, martyr, seer, lawgiver, witness, outside, draws with radius too short. Fenelon, Eugene De Guericke, Lacordaire, Augustine, Luther, Wesley, belong inside. Not of the religionist's but of every man's culture. The trouble with the church? Columbus in the poop of the vessel scanning the horizon for an America, while the crew in the fore-castle are getting a "kick" out of gambling, grog, obsecrancies, and an occasional fight. Occupations differing only in their cost from the occupations of the over-rich of society, who have made the history of opera the chronicle of a 150 years' degradation. Civilization in church and music hall is but a veneer so long as the obligation of intelligent interest is shirked. All the time art and Christianity are here, waiting.

NELSON, HORSE

BUYER, DIES AT DESK

Discovered by Watchman
Had Been in the Business
43 Years.

At his desk in the dingy office of his livery and sales stable at 101 North Broadway, where for 43 years he was a familiar figure in the neighborhood, died today, when Private Watchman Henry Thais passed the door, an unusual, and the watchman investigated. There was no response to his knocking. He called a policeman and they forced the door open. The body was found.

Years ago Nelson came to St. Louis. For 43 years he had been a buyer of horses and mules on North Broadway. He was one of the largest, one of the oldest establishments of its kind in St. Louis. In the days when horse-drawn carriages were the principal mode of transportation, his stables were filled with fine draft stock, and the best family carriage horses. Then the automobile came. One by one competitors left the field. The business was transferred to East St. Louis, but Nelson remained in business here. In the last 18 years he had lost thousands of dollars in keeping his stables open. "I said the son, after picking the prosperous preautomobile days, 'there are only a few old horses in the place.'"

Heart trouble is believed to have been the cause of death. The other had been nervous and worried, too, over the suicide 11 months ago of his son, Arthur. He was gassed in the war.

Nelson was born in Sweden in 1871, and came to St. Louis in 1891. He is survived by his widow, Emma, one son, William, and two daughters, Mrs. Gerard D. Hill, Mrs. Eichelberger, and Mrs. Nelson. Funeral services were not arranged. Nelson had often told his family he did not want an automobile funeral. He said he had searched for a horse-drawn hearse but was unable to find it.

My face became full of pimples. They started to itch and when I scratched, water came from my face. My face used to burn and was so sore I could not touch it. The irritation was worse at night and I could not sleep. My face was terribly disfigured. The trouble lasted several months.

The Kiangsu forces are attempting to cut the railway line between Shanghai and Sungkiang, but the Chinese army, reinforced last night, held the railway with forces extending along the rails for a distance of about three miles in the vicinity of Sungkiang.

Any attempt to move trains on the part of the Chekiang forces to the west, however, would be at great risk, as it would invite the full force of fire from the Kiangsu army. All ordinary traffic over the railway line has been stopped.

BORAH PRAISES COOLIDGE FOR FIGHTING BUREAUCRACY

"President Greatest Man in Political History of U. S.," Idaho Senator Asserts.

By the Associated Press.
IDAHO FALLS, Id., Oct. 8.—Opening his campaign here last night, Senator William E. Borah, Republican, expressed thanks to Progressives of this State who nominated him for re-election, but declared that at the time of the nomination the Progressives "understood perfectly that I was a member of the Republican party and intend to remain a member."

Referring to the organization of a third party, Borah said: "I entertain no doubt as to where I can be of the most service if I am to remain in public life. I propose to fight for clean economic government and for progressive principles inside the Republican party."

Borah praised President Coolidge as the only President who has had the courage to combat the growing tendency toward bureaucracy and extravagance.

"President Coolidge, because of this, is the greatest man in the political history of the United States," the Senator said. "Coolidge has had the courage, and courage is a rare thing in Washington, to veto bills which provided for establishment of new bureaus," Borah declared. He cited the President's veto of the postal employees' bill as an example.

Borah said he differed with La Follette in his stand on the Supreme Court and argued that under the Constitution the poor have the same rights as the rich.

The Senator praised the United States, the one big country outside of the League of Nations, for its efforts in bringing about the disarmament conference. He also praised the Reparations Commission and the Dawes plan.

DAWES IN IOWA, SILENT
ON BROOKHART ATTACKVice Presidential Nominee Confines Speeches to Vehement Denunciation of La Follette.

By the Associated Press.
ON BOARD THE DAWES SPECIAL TRAIN, EN ROUTE THROUGH IOWA, Oct. 2.—The Republican fight against the La Follette independent candidacy in Iowa was led today by the Republican party's chief campaign speaker and vice presidential nominee, Charles G. Dawes. The director of the fight was taken over by Dawes late yesterday when he entered the State, made a rear platform speech at Northwood and spoke to an audience that filled the Mason City armory last night.

Leaving Mason City early today, the itinerary of the Republican nominee took him through the portion of the State in which the La Follette strength is most feared by Republican leaders. The day program provided for five long speeches.

Dawes struck at the La Follette movement in his Mason City address last night with greater vehemence than he has shown in his previous campaigning, reiterating his declaration that election of the Wisconsin Senator means "chaos."

He described La Follette as a "reactionary" and then defined what he considered a "reactionary."

"A reactionary," he said, "is the man who would turn back all the we have established in this country of ours; throw the compass overboard from the ship of state and let her sail by the winds; have our action determined by a passing phase of popular opinion and plunge us into confusion of ideas and ideals—into chaos, undermining the confidence of our people in the existing condition of things with all the disastrous results that will come."

Campaign promises being made by Senator La Follette, Dawes asserted, contained a "significant absence of reference to the machinery and methods by which all these results will be obtained."

"Just the constant intimation given to 'put us into office and we will come,'" he continued. "The don't come that way. They come by work. They come by meeting the facts and the truth fairly and squarely in this country. We don't solve questions that are great questions by oratory. We search for the sound, common-sense judgment of the people—not seek to please everybody."

Dawes entered Iowa after a noon speech yesterday at St. Paul, Minn. He found that the topic of discussion in political quarters still was the demand made by Senator Brookhart for his removal from the ticket, and also the charges made by the Iowa Senator as to his connection with the Lorimer case.

Neither matter was referred to by Dawes in his Northwood speech, and he indicated that he would devote the remainder of his stay in any of his addresses in Iowa. Insinuates Brookhart Reference.

Reports were current before the meeting in Mason City that the Republican nominee would be questioned regarding the Brookhart charges, but no hecklers appeared. Dawes made, in his attack on the La Follette candidacy, a statement which the audience indicated it interpreted as a sally aimed at Brookhart. Citing instances of methods used by demagogues which he said consisted of "vicious affirmations unsupported by facts," Dawes pointed to Senator La Follette's Labor day speech and added that he did "not need to speak to others with whom you are familiar in this state."

Dawes described the La Follette candidacy as "a mobilization of forces against the fundamental institutions of our country."

Pure mineral oil is certainly the finest intestinal lubricant. But pure mineral oil alone cannot remove the deep-seated causes of intestinal poison and acid (sour stomach). Science has now discovered the ideal combination of lubricant and antacid—Mineral Oil and Milk of Magnesia—Haley's M-O.

The sweet, soothing milk of magnesia in Haley's M-O effectively neutralizes and counteracts the acids that cause heartburn, gas and belching, black spots dancing before the eyes. It goes straight and deep to the lower bowel, eliminating the poison. Then the pure mineral oil helps nature carry them off.

POTHIER CONFESSION
AGAIN INTRODUCEDOne Witness in Cronkite Case
However, Says Sergeant
Mentioned "Kill," Not "Murder."

By the Associated Press.
TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 2.—James J. Lee, a Connecticut garage man and a former Department of Justice agent, was called to testify today to statements alleged to have been made to him in New York by former Sergeant-Bugler Roland R. Pothier, and to tell of a purported confession made to him in the Providence (R. I.) Jail by Pothier, who is on trial in the Federal Court here for the murder of Maj. Alexander P. Cronkite.

Camp Lewis military reservation on Oct. 25, 1918.

Maj. Cronkite was shot to death while on a practice march with the 213th Engineers. Pothier and Capt. Robert Rosenbluth are held on charges of murder as a result of the mysterious death of Maj. Cronkite. Rosenbluth will be tried later.

Lee, who was on the stand yesterday afternoon, testified to having a priest confer with Pothier when he saw that the defendant did not intend to get a lawyer. Lee said that, at the conclusion of his talk with Pothier, the priest called him into the room and remarked: "I want you to see that I am advising him to tell nothing but the truth." This interview took place on March 20, 1921.

Questioned about the questionings of the board of inquiry which examined into Cronkite's death, Lee declared that from his experience in the army, he "thought it peculiar that the board would receive conflicting testimony and accept it as proof that Cronkite killed himself."

Pothier was curious as to the difference between "killing" and "murdering" a man, testified David N. Jordan of Providence, R. I., yesterday. Jordan, who formerly was a deputy United States Marshal at Providence, R. I., said that he never had heard Pothier admit "murdering" Maj. Cronkite. Other witnesses have testified that Pothier made such an admission.

Jordan said, however, that he had heard Pothier ask: "Can't you kill a man without murdering him?"

Ralph Navarro of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Frederick S. Hoeckley of New York, both special agents of the Department of Justice when Pothier was arrested in March, 1921, preceded Jordan on the stand. Both of them said that Pothier, in their presence, and with Jordan present, declared in a New York City restaurant on March 25, 1921, that he had killed Maj. Cronkite at the instigation of Robert Rosenbluth. Jordan said he had no recollection of "any of the stuff" Navarro and Hoeckley narrated.

Navarro testified that Pothier while in the restaurant said that Maj. Cronkite was a "pretty good fellow," but that Rosenbluth had a strange power over him.

Facts About Taxes on Cigarettes

WE call particular attention to the statements made in the advertisement adjoining this editorial column.

This advertisement, the purpose of which is to win new friends for Lucky Strike cigarettes, incidentally emphasizes the matter of high taxes on cigarettes.

To those who are intimate with such matters there is, of course, no surprising statement made.

To the general public, though, we believe it will be surprising to learn that nearly half of what they pay for cigarettes goes to the government for taxes.

The internal revenue stamp on a package of twenty Lucky Strike cigarettes costs you six cents. On a tin of one hundred the revenue stamp costs you thirty cents.

So nearly fifty cents out of every dollar you spend for cigarettes is spent by you for taxes.

This is certainly the heaviest tax on an article of daily and universal consumption.

The Tobacco Industry and Taxes

The aggregate tax paid by the tobacco business is with one exception, income taxes, the largest item of internal revenue the federal government receives. Last (fiscal) year it amounted to $309,014,050.94.

Of this enormous amount of money the cigarette industry paid $182,715,735.93, or nearly two-thirds of the total tax paid by the entire tobacco business.

The immediately important point of the foregoing is the following: We believe you will appreciate that when nearly fifty cents of every dollar paid by you for cigarettes goes to the government, you must receive in cigarettes a value in return for your money that is rarely given in any commodity.

That the public generally appreciates this great value is shown by the enormous increase in the consumption of cigarettes.

Our reasons for this tax free offer

We know this offer induces men to try Lucky Strikes—it "Wins New Friends."

We know that a large percentage of those who get acquainted with Lucky Strikes adopt them.

This isn't philanthropy nor propaganda—just good business, as you'll agree.

The offer is limited. We cannot afford to keep it up.

We make it sensationally generous so as to attract attention.

We are not giving money away for the offer accomplishes its purposes: Lucky Strike "Wins New Friends." Our volume increases.

Super-quality

It is only by immense volume that we can produce such an aristocratic cigarette as Lucky Strike at such a democratic price.

Its quality is supreme because it has that costly, extra process, toasting, which improves the flavor and adds to the taste of even the finest tobaccos that are used in Lucky Strikes.

We urge you to participate in this offer—we want you to get acquainted with Lucky Strike.

We know a trial will make you a permanent customer of ours.

MOGRIDGE'S PITCHING ENABLES SENATORS TO TIE WORLD SERIES

Southpaw Whose Arm Went Bad in September Holds Giant Sluggers in Check

Veteran, Forced to Retire in Late Round, Aided in Victory by Goslin's Home Run With Two Men on the Bases and Sensational Fielding by Manager Harris.

By J. Roy Stockton,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—George Mogridge is rather an old man, as seen in baseball. And this summer as the American League pennant race became hotter and hotter and the pitchers on the staff of Stanley Harris began to feel the strain of the long grind, the arm of Mogridge began to fail him. He was giving all he had. This might be his last year in baseball. Who knew? He was getting old. But it was worth it. He would gladly throw away that arm if he could help win a pennant. That's the stuff that courageous ball players are made of.

But when September came and was departing Mogridge's arm was gone. When the team reached Boston and there remained only a few more games, games which the Senators could not afford to lose, Mogridge was not pitching. He could not pitch. His arm had snapped. Age and the heat of the campaign had made of him a casualty, and probably, he thought, a wounded man, a worn-out who would never again return to the firing line.

Then the Giants beat Walter Johnson. Harris' biggest ace defeated. Zachary came through and the horizon brightened. And then Roger Peckinpaugh suffered a charley horse and the weakened Washington team, playing raggedly behind four ragged pitchers, was trampled on by the hard-riding team of John McGraw.

Mogridge Asked to Pitch.
"It's all over now," New York's said. "Harris may call on

Harris Rescues Pitcher With Two Great Plays in the Early Innings

And that's what the youthful manager told interviewers before yesterday's game. "If Mogridge can hold out for five innings we'll even the series. Well, no pitch Johnson. We'll pitch Mogridge."

And so it was that the veteran southpaw, with a mere shadow of an arm, went to the hill yesterday afternoon in a last desperate effort to stop the Giants.

His start was bad. He could not find the plate. He walked Lindstrom, the first New York batter. Frisch grounded to Harris and then to make matters worse, Shortstop Bluege, after making a fine stop of Young's grounded, threw wild to first and Lindstrom scored.

Most managers would have taken that as the veteran pitcher's last game. But not Harris. He could not find the plate. Barnes struck out. The veteran pitcher, who had been in the game since the first two batters and then again his arm would not function. He could not find the plate. Barnes

Mogridge Given Cheer When He Is Forced to Retire in Eighth Round

George Goslin was the next batter. Goslin, the man who had been robbed three times the day before by Frankie Frisch. But this time Goslin was not to be robbed. Only once did Barnes pitch to Goslin, but that was enough. Frisch went the bat and the ball sailed into the right field grand stand. A home run. A homer with two men on the bases. Three runs for the Senators. Mogridge had a lead.

Did Mogridge show his gratitude? Did he falter? No, he found new strength, new speed, new curves and in two minutes he had struck out Ross Young and George Kelly, two dangerous hitters up there eager to overcome that lead, eager to batter a veteran left-hander whose arm had departed in mid-September.

The whole Washington team was inspired. Goslin's heart was still beating a rhapsody of joy over his home run and when Emil Meusel socked a drive to left field Goslin fairly flew after the ball. To the fence he went for it. To the high wall, and as he leaped into the air and crashed into the boards he clutched that drive of Meusel's.

Great Cheer for Mogridge.
Mogridge did more than last five innings. He finally did falter, but not until he had pitched 7-1-3 innings and then with his team leading and with his arm aching so badly that he could scarcely get the ball to the plate and could not get it over the plate, he had to retire. And as he stalked from the mound, tired, his muscles twitching with pain, the New York stands gave him the greatest cheer that it ever gave a world's series player.

A General back from the war, a hero from where or what you will, could not have been given a greater cheer. And as Mogridge plodded to the clubhouse and called for rubbing liniment and some one to knead those tired and aching muscles, he must have glowed in every twitch of pain, every reflex of the muscles, protesting at overwork.

"If this old man with a dead arm can serve like this," said the Senators to themselves, "we can win" and they did. They battered Virgil Barnes and they battered Howard Baldwin and they battered Wavlan Dean. Costly young hurlers were these, young men bought by McGraw during the last year or so, during the last few months of their, to help save off the challenge of other National League teams.

Harris Star of Game.
But the National League teams had no Mogridge to inspire them and yesterday the Senators did have a Mogridge.

Bucky Harris was the Frankie Frisch yesterday. He it was who wandered far afield to snare flies and dashed in this side and that to another threatening base hit. He was the star of the day, but the whole Washington team was inspired.

Senior Golfers Turn in Good Scores in Meet

By Dent McSkimming.

ALONGQUIN COUNTRY CLUB.

Oct. 8.—Good gross and net scores marked the play today in the first annual Western Golf Association senior championship here. Close to 40 players teed off this morning, and with the entries not closing until afternoon, a total of nearly 100 was expected.

The tournament was instituted as a mark of recognition of the veteran golfers of the Western district, through whose efforts in their younger days the game was popularized and raised to its present high place in the world of sports.

The distinctive feature of the tournament is the age limit. No golfer under 50 years may compete.

The contestants have been divided into six classes based upon age, and class 6 will be for men "75 years old and over."

The classes are as follows: One, men 50 to 54; two, 55 to 59; three, 60 to 64; four, 65 to 69; five, 70 to 74; six, 75 and over.

There were players from Chicago, Kansas City, Dallas, Tex., Memphis and several smaller towns in Illinois and Missouri.

The tournament consists of two 18-hole rounds, the second round to be played tomorrow.

President Charles O. Pfeil of Memphis, head of the Western Golf Association, who arrived here yesterday to aid in conducting the tournament, said that it is the object of the association to make this one of the most popular of the fixtures of the Western district.

A variety of trophies will be awarded. There will be a championship prize for low gross score and another for low net. There will also be prizes for the low net and the low gross score in each of the six classes and a prize for the best score turned in for 18 holes on either day.

When the Commissioner heard that, he snapped his fingers and said the spokesman's face and said the spokesman didn't mean that much to the series. He thought he should receive as much as a Ruth or a Kelly or a Frisch.

The answer was that men who sat on the bench all season or who asked other players not to bear down received a full winner's share if their team happened to win and that the umpire certainly worked harder and was a better player than the umpire.

If Giants Win, Each Would Then Receive $4319.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Washington and New York players will receive a fund of $248,319.22, announced after the fourth game of the series, the last from the players receive a share of receipts. The winners will receive $148,991.63 and the losers $27,750.

The Giants have 26 eligible Senators only 21. Exact figures for each man cannot be given because of the practice of dumping sums to certain players and attaches, but the approximate shares follow:

Each Washington player will receive about $6477 if the team wins, but only $4319 if it loses. If the Giants win, each player will be entitled to about $7311.

Brooklyn and New York players place clubs in the two leagues each receive $24,831.92 to be divided among the eligible players. The total players' fund for the record year was $110,000. Each winning Yankee receives $148,991.63 and each losing Giant $27,750. The Senators, because of the smaller fund of this year, will receive a smaller share of the receipts.

Winning Football Plays—No. 7

DAWSON'S NEBRASKA FAKE KICK FORMATION

Winning Play No. 7.

COACH FRED DAWSON has revamped an old Harvard play into one of Nebraska's most successful formations. This particular play, as shown in the accompanying diagram, starts from a fake kick formation and develops into a double pass.

And No. 1 stands well back of the line. When the ball is snapped the ends after blocking their opponents, go down the field. The ball comes direct from center to No. 1, who fakes a kick. Then he passes ball to No. 2, who has run to the left. As No. 2 is about to be tackled he lateral passes to No. 1 who has run wide to the left. The success of this play depends a great deal on No. 1, who should be a triple threat. For best results the double pass should be tried after several passes from No. 1 to No. 2. It is a very effective scoring play from around the 25-yard line.

The Army-Detroit game at West Point will give a good deal more of a line on the quality of McGraw's men than many persons think. Detroit is a team with very powerful individuals and some of the big fellows on the line will test out West Point for any weaknesses. The writer regards the Army as stronger than last year and if both Wilson and Hewitt get into the backfield the team will be increasingly dangerous.

JOHN MCGRAW BLAMES JENNINGS FOR LOSS OF FOURTH SERIES BATTLE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—While giving the full meed of credit to the Senators, particularly to Harris and Goslin, for winning the fourth game of the world's series, John McGraw today took occasion to blame his lieutenant, Hughie Jennings, for its loss.

"I disagree with Jennings' judgment in sending Meusel home in the eighth on Wilson's double," McGraw said. "The run wouldn't have tied the score, in any case. If Meusel had been held at third, we would have had men on second and third with one out. As it was we had a man on second with two out. The best mat artists in the country, have been matched to meet Oct. 14."

McGraw said that he was disappointed in the loss of the series, but he believed that his team had done its best. He praised the Senators for their victory and said that he was proud of his own team's performance.

Detroit Eleven Will Put Army's Line to a Test

Brown-Chicago and Marquette-Navy Clashes Other Features for Saturday.

By Walter Camp.

(Copyright, 1924.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Brown-Chicago game at Chicago next Saturday will afford an opportunity to see whether Stagg has been able to do anything with his team since its defeat by Missouri last Saturday. He will have to show everything he has against Robinson or suffer defeat, which would tend to sap the morale of the team for the conference games.

On the other hand, Brown, if it should gain a victory, will come back east for its important games with the big fellows, thoroughly seasoned and likely to be very dangerous. Brown's center, Eckstein, will bear watching.

The Army-Detroit game at West Point will give a good deal more of a line on the quality of McGraw's men than many persons think. Detroit is a team with very powerful individuals and some of the big fellows on the line will test out West Point for any weaknesses. The writer regards the Army as stronger than last year and if both Wilson and Hewitt get into the backfield the team will be increasingly dangerous.

The Columbia-Wesleyan game will mark exactly the progress of Haughton's work and show whether the promise of greater cohesion, displayed a week ago, may be expected to continue.

Penn looks better than last year and the game with Swarthmore will tell the story. Douglas, the star in Lou Young's backfield, should be watched.

Pittsburg will try to make up for a defeat last week by beating West Virginia, but Spear's team appears to be a hard one to down.

Syracuse should come through with a victory over William and Mary though the opposition promises to be better than expected.

Marquette has a line that should give the Navy some trouble and Powell will be lucky if he gets his team through safely without injury.

The Big Three—Yale, Harvard and Princeton—ought to have fairly easy sailing against Georgia, Middlebury and Lehigh.

Senators Now Feel Sure of Victory In World Series

Walter Johnson Writes

By Walter Johnson.

(Copyright, 1924.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Again we have tied up the series and are just as good as the other fellow. Without Peck, the boys went out and handed the Giants a real beating yesterday, 7 to 4. That victory gave us a lot of confidence. Now we are sure of winning the series, probably in six games.

Peck's timely hitting featured the first two games. Yesterday Goose Goslin had a holiday. He drove in four runs and scored two himself. His home run with two on in the third put Washington ahead and he kept on pounding the ball all day. He now leads the sluggers for the series.

Goslin Haps Out Homer. That New York run in the first inning was not earned but it counted just the same and put the Giants in front. Lindstrom walked and reached second on Frisch's infield out. Young hit a bouncing ball to Bluege near second and was safe on Ome's low throw. The ball got away from Judge and it was easy for Lindstrom to score.

Everyone received a real thrill when Goose Goslin put us ahead in the third with his home run. MeNeely and Harris had hit safely and were on the bases with two out when the four-bagger came.

The big crowd let up a roar that lasted while Goose ran around the bases. We had a two-run lead on that hit and you could tell what it meant to us by the way Moorige pitched the last half. He struck out Young and Kelly and Meusel went out on a long fly to Goslin. We then felt sure we could hold them.

The Goose broke loose again in the fifth when he scored two more runs. His single in the second went to center. His home run went into the right field stands, and his single in the fifth skipped past Jackson into left. That shows how hard it is to play for him. He is always dangerous and doesn't always hit to the same place.

Earl McNeely had a good day at bat. He is a youngster with a great future. He proved very valuable to us in our pennant race and will improve next year. He was Several Cardinal regulars will be seen in action at Sportsman's Park Saturday and Sunday when the Cardinal barnstormers oppose the Shell team of the Municipal League. Bottomley, Toporcer, Cooney and Blades are playing on the infield; Smith and Mueller in the outfield, with Niebergall and Clemons as the catchers. Bell, Dickerman and Day are the hurriers.

Other Sport on Page 28

The drive was on its way to right for a single until Harris came along from nowhere, grabbed it and with his gloved hand retired the Fordham Flash at first. Those two plays were good enough for any day.

Moorige simply pitched himself out and when he lost control in the eighth, he had to retire. The fans in center field stands stood up to cheer George as he was on his way to the clubhouse. That was a great tribute to him and made him feel good. It took away some of the soreness at not being able to complete the game.

There was another thrilling finish. Indeed this series has given the spectators plenty of thrills and it is really nerve wrecking on the bench. The Giants had Lindstrom and Frisch on the bases in the ninth, with one out and a tie score. Judge scooped up his hot grounder and Frisch was forced. Up came Kelly, a long hitter. The Giants still had a chance to tie it up. But Marberry put on all his stuff and Kelly struck out. That was a great feat for Marberry who had been knocked out of the box.

O'NEIL'S TEAM WINS FROM ST. LOUIS STARS

Mickey O'Neil's All Stars, a team of major and minor league players, won the third game of the series with the St. Louis Stars (negroes) at Stars' Park yesterday afternoon. The score was 6 to 5. Lefty Fuhr, acting as relief hurler in the ninth inning, struck out a pinch hitter with the tying and winning runs on base. The same teams will play Saturday and Sunday.

Four safeguards behind your bonds

An investor said to us: "Nobody, not even the most expert, knows precisely what a piece of property is worth, much less what it will be worth ten years from now. How do you get around that in protecting Miller Bonds?" Here are the four safeguards:

1. Conservatism in our own appraisal of property, based on intimate knowledge of present values.
2. Corroborating appraisals furnished by independent, local real estate authorities.
3. A large excess of appraised property value over the amount of the Miller Bond Issue.
4. Payment of a part of the bonds each year, offsetting possible decline in property value.

Owners of Miller Bonds all over the United States have found that these safeguards work, for no owner ever had to "take a loss" on his bonds. If you are interested in this kind of quadruple safety, plus a rate up to 7%, tear out this advertisement, sign and mail it for booklet "Creating Good Investments."

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the germ of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

LISTENS IN TO WOMAN'S THREAT TO TAKE POISON

Hotel Telephone Operator Summons Ambulance and Policeman—Guest Taken to Hospital.

A telephone operator at the American Hotel, listening in at 1:45 a. m. today, overheard a woman guest announce over the wire that she was going to take poison. An ambulance and a policeman were summoned and, when the latter went to the room from which the call had come, he found Mrs. Anna Jean West, 27 years old, suffering from poisoning.

At the city hospital Mrs. West admitted taking the poison, but would give no reason. She said she resided at 5633 Maple avenue with her mother, and was the wife of Furman E. West, a salesman, of 4144 Westminster place, from whom she is separated.

Police questioned West, who said his wife telephoned him twice last night from the hotel in an effort to effect a reconciliation. His second refusal to see her resulted in the poison threat, West said. It was this conversation that the operator overheard. Mrs. West is expected to recover.

INDICTED FOR GEM ROBBERY

New Yorker Held for $35,000 Hold-up in Midville's Holdup.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—John Feinstein, 24 years old, was indicted yesterday for robbery, burglary and assault in connection with the robbery on Sept. 15 of Miss Edith Bobe, a modiste, in which jewelry valued at $35,000 was taken.

Miss Bobe had returned to her home accompanied by Robert L. Hague, marine superintendent of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, when the robbers confronted her in the hallway, according to the modiste's story to the police. Miss Bobe, her maid, and two detectives were the only witnesses before the grand jury.

CONWAY, S. C., Oct. 8.—Edmund D. Bigham, alleged slayer of five members of his own family, was found guilty of the murder of his brother, L. Stanley Bigham, by a jury in Horry County Court here yesterday. The verdict was returned after two and one-half hours.

This was Bigham's second trial, he having been found guilty of the same charge and sentenced to death in 1921. Bigham was sentenced again to death yesterday.

SELINA had seen herself, dignified, yet gentle, instructing a roomful of Dutch cherubs in the simpler elements of learning. But it is difficult to be dignified and gracious when you are suffering from chills. Selina felt victim to the sordid discomfort, as did every child in the room. She sat at the battered pine desk or moved about, a little ice-wool shawl around her shoulders when the wind was wrong and the stove balky. Her white little face seemed whiter in contrast with the black folds of this somber garment. Her slim hands were rough and chapped. The oldest child in the room was 13, the youngest 4½. From 8:30 until 4 Selina ruled this grubby domain; a hot-and-cold roomful of sneezing, coughing, wriggling, shuffling, dozing children, too scuffling on agonized heel and heel crunching on agonized toe, in a frenzy of itching.

"Aggie Vander Slide, parse this sentence: The ground is wet because it has rained."

Miss Vander Slide, 11, arises with a switching of skirts and a tossing of pigtail. "Ground" the subject; "is wet" the predicate. "because"...

Selina is listening with school-teachery expression indicative of encouragement and approval. "Jan Ship, parse this sentence: The flower will wither if it is picked."

Brown lady's-cloth; ice-wool shawl; chalk in hand. Just a phase; a brief chapter in the adventure of Selina's life. She is looking back on a withering of amusement and wonder. Things were going to happen. Such things, with life and life stretching ahead of her! In five years—twelve even, perhaps, who knows but that she might be lying on lacy pillows on just such a bleak winter morning, a satin coverlet over her, the morning light shaded by soft rose-colored hangings. (Early influence of the Firsides Companion.)

"What time is it, Celeste?" "It is now 11 o'clock madame."

"Is that all?" "Madame like that I prepare her bath now, of later?" "Later, Celeste. My chocolate now. My letters."

...and if it is the conjunction modifying...

Early in the winter Selina had had the unfortunate idea of opening the windows at intervals and giving the children five minutes of exercise while the fresh cold air cleared brain and room at once. Arms waved wildly, heads bobbed, short legs worked vigorously. At the end of the week 20 High Prairie parents sent protests by note or word of mouth. Jan and Cornelius Katrina and Aggie went to school to learn reading and writing and numbers, not to stand with open windows in the winter.

On the winter farm the winter work had set in. Klaas dreamed of Chicago with winter vegetables only once a week now. He and Jakob and Roelf were storing potatoes and cabbages underground; repairing fences; preparing frames for the early spring planting; sorting seedlings. It had been Roelf who had taught Selina to build the schoolhouse fire. He had gone with her on that first morning, had started the fire, filled the water pail, initiated her in the rites of corn-cobs, kerosene, and dampers. A shy, dark, silent boy. She set out deliberately to woo him to friendship.

"Roelf, I have a book called 'Vanhoof.' Would you like to read it?"

"Well, I don't get much time." "You wouldn't have to hurry. Right there in the house. And there's another called 'The Three Musketeers.'"

He was trying not to look pleased to appear so old and Dutch, like the people from whom he had sprung. Some Dutch sailor ancestor, Selina thought, or fisherman, must have touched at an Italian port or Spanish and brought back a wife whose eyes and skin and feeling for beauty had skipped layer on layer of placid Netherlands to crop out now in this wistful, sensitive boy.

Selina had spoken to Jakob Hoogendunk about a shelf for her books and her photographs. He had put up a rough bit of board, very crude and ugly, but he had served. She had come home one snowy afternoon to find this shelf gone and in its place a smooth and polished one, with brackets intricately carved. Roelf had cut, planed, polished and carved it in many hours of work in the cold little shed off the kitchen. He had there a workshop of sorts, fitted with such tools and implements as he could devise. He did a man's work on the farm, yet often at night Selina could faintly hear the rasp of his hand saw after she had gone to bed. He had built a doll's house for Gertrude and Josina that was the black envy of every playmate in High Prairie. This sort of thing was looked upon by Klaas Pool as foolishness. Roelf's real work in the shed was the making and mending of cold frames and hotbeds for the early spring plants. Whenever possible Roelf neglected this dull work for some fancy of his own. To this Klaas Pool objected as being "dumb." For that matter, High Prairie considered Roelf's boy "dumb like." He said such things. When the new Dutch Reformed Church was completed after gigantic effort—red brick, and the first brick church in High Prairie—bright yellow painted pews—red and yellow glass win-

Silver Wigs and Slippers of Silver Braid

By AILEEN LAMONT.

A HOT head and cold feet; what more could any flapper ask for a successful evening?

And that is what fashion is going to provide for her this winter. For silver threads among the gold is not a song or a theory, it is a fact. Wigs of silver threads spun from the virgin metal itself, are being provided for those with bobbed heads—as what flapper has not.

It requires a certain amount of plumb to wear a wig, even one of silver, without disarrangement during a hectic evening, but it is thoroughly possible. DeWolf Hopper had a toupee once which he even could wear in the surf.

Even if the wig does not appeal, practically every evening coiffure at present is supplemented either by a bandeau of interlaced silver braid, rivaling a coronet in elaborateness but coming far lower over the brows, or by an elaborate structure of ostrich plumes. Frequently the former is so arranged that the long ear rings, so universally worn, seem to depend from the headpiece. One of the most charming and elaborate of these ornaments consists of a band of ostrich plumes tightly rolled over the brow with a streamer of the longer feathers falling over the left shoulder almost to the waist.

When it comes to the pedal extremities, the newest evening slippers also are made entirely of silver braid, loosely interwoven in basket fashion to exhibit the sheer stocking beneath. Some of the more daring maids and matrons go so far as to discard the stockings entirely, but this practice is far more prevalent in stage and movie circles than among those whose claims to style leadership rest on a firmer foundation.

Lingerie at present is little else than a shower of lace with the most delicate fillet for choice. And negligees? They call them some and give them now to receive feminine friends who drop in for a cold kiss and a hot talk. One of the most striking of these is of two-toned crepe back satin of two colors, the crepe being black and the satin, which are tight and shiny, of orange, lemon, French blue, peach or emerald green. (Copyright, 1924.)

Roelf did not sulk. He seemed not to mind particularly, but he came back to the carved box as soon as chance presented itself. Maartje and Klaas Pool were not cruel people, nor unkind. They were a little bewildered by this odd creature that they inexplicably enjoyed, had produced. It was not a family given to demonstration of affection. Life was too grim for the flowering of this softer side.

That too, they had sprung from the same stock. Maartje was a phlegmatic and emotional people. Klaas toiled like a slave in the fields and barn; Maartje's day was a treadmill of cooking, scrubbing, washing, mending from the moment she arose (four in the summer, five in the winter) until she dropped with a groan in her bed often long after the others were asleep. Selina had never seen her kiss Gertrude or Josina. But once she had been a little startled to see Maartje, on one of her countless trips between stove and table, run her hand through the hair of the black-haired, downy-faced side of his face to chin, which she tipped up with an indescribably tender gesture as she looked down into his eyes. It was a movement, fleeting, vague, yet infinitely compassionate. Sometimes she even remonstrated when Klaas berated Roelf. "Leave the boy be, then, Klaas. Leave him be, once."

She loves him best," Selina thought. "She'd even try to understand him if she had time."

He was reading her books with such hunger as to cause her to wonder if her stock would last him the winter. Sometimes, after supper, when he was hammering and sawing away in the little shed Selina would snatch Maartje's old shawl off the hook and swathed in this against draughty chinks, she would read aloud to him while he carved, or talk to him above the noise of his tools. Selina was a gay and volatile person. She loved to make this boy laugh. His dark face would flash in almost dazzling animation. Sometimes Maartje, hearing their young laughter, would come to the shed door and stand there a moment, hugging her arms in her rolled apron and smiling at them, unconprehending but companionable.

"You make fun, huh?" "Come in, Mrs. Pool. Sit down on my box and make fun, too. Here, you may have half the shawl."

"Oh Haden! I got no time to sit down." She was off.

Roelf said his plane slowly, more slowly, over the surface of a satin-smooth oak board. He stopped, twined a curl of shavering about his finger.

"When I am a man, and earning, I am going to buy my mother a silk dress like I saw in a store in Chicago and she should put it on every day, not only for Sunday, and sit in a chair and make little fine stitches like Widow Paarlansberg."

"What else are you going to do when you grow up?" She waited, certain that he would say something delightful.

"Drive the team to town alone to market."

"Oh, Roelf!" "Sure. Already I have gone five times—twice with Jakob and three times with Pop. Pretty soon, when I am seventeen or eighteen, I can go alone. At five in the afternoon you start and at nine you are in the Hagmarket. There all night you sleep on the wagon. There are gas lights. The men play dice and cards. At four in the morning you are ready when they come, the commission men and the peddlers and the grocery man. Oh, it's fine, I tell you!"

"Roelf!" She was bitterly disappointed.

"Here, look." He rummaged around in a dusty box in a corner and, suddenly shy again, laid before her a torn sheet of coarse brown paper on which he had sketched crudely, effectively, a melee of great-haunched horses; wagons piled high with garden truck; men in overalls and corburoys; falling gas torches. He had drawn it with a stub of pencil exactly as it looked to him. The result was as startling as that achieved by the present-day disciple of the impressionistic school.

Selina was enchanted. Many of her evenings during November were spent thus. The family life was lived in a kitchen blue with pipe smoke, heavy with the smell of cooking. Sometimes, though rarely—a fire was lighted in the parlor stove. Often she had school papers to correct, grubby shavings of arithmetic, grammar, or spelling lessons. Often she longed to read; wanted to sew. Her bedroom was too cold. The men sat in the kitchen or cramped in and out. Gertrude and Josina snuggled and played. Maartje scuttled about like a harried animal, heavy-footed but incredibly swift. The floor was always gritty with the sandy snow tracked in by the men's heavy boots.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

A GIRL'S beauty is the flashing electric sign which attracts a hungry man; her amiability and domestic competence are the "good things" which satisfy him; her brains are—caviare to the general!

In family life one might just as well indulge one's natural tendencies toward ill temper, selfishness and gloom. For if one tries to trample these under foot some cynic on the hearth is sure to remark: "You want something, don't you?" (i. e., an invitation to the mother, a new hat, the right to attend the stag dinner at the club.)

It used to be most ungalant for a man in love to count the cost; nowadays it's merely inevitable for the poor chap—the price of roses, taxis and slat-stem engagement rings being what it is.

Don't try to convince a sentimental and chivalrous man that most of the "insults" offered to the business girl are invited—or imaginary. He will only decide that, having no "sex attraction" of your own, you judge other and lovelier maidens by yourself.

When her husband's inability to eat his breakfast is no longer accepted by his wife as a personal insult—that's when the honeymoon ends.

A man's notion of truthfully criticizing his wife is to begin with "You don't get over" and to end with "That hat of yours ought to go to a rammer sale—or a scrounger."

One thing, according to the Returned Summer Girl, she has found more cumbersome than a man's love—a shoe-shine at the beach.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

The Authority on Home Cooking

DELICIOUS DISHES FOR FALL DINNER

WELL-SEASONED dishes are always acceptable on days between the heavier dinners. It is nice to have a list of such dishes to keep the family guessing, as it does not do to repeat our successes too frequently. The casserole dish figures prominently in this sort of cookery and the dish is usually sent to table "as is."

Roasted Stuffed Breast of Veal. Choose a thick breast of young veal, remove all bone and gristle, and flatten the meat with a wooden masher. Make a savory stuffing, crumbs, chopped nuts, minced tart apple, a few raisins, a beaten egg, butter, pepper, salt, a little sage and a little salt. Spread the stuffing thinly over the meat and roll and tie it in shape with several ties of kitchen tape. Rub the roasting pan with a cut bud of garlic, lay in the roast, dust with pepper and a little salt, sprinkle with chopped onion, celery leaves and a pepper, add a cupful of rich stock and cover closely for an hour, then uncover and let the meat finish cooking and brown delicately. Baste very often as the meat cooks. When done lift the meat, add another cupful of stock to the dish of gravy and let it heat, then thicken it with brown roux and strain into a hot serving boat. The roll is delicious served either hot or cold.

Stuffed Onions. Allow one onion to each person. Pare the onions and cut in halves lengthwise, then boil gently until tender, but not soft. Drain and remove the centers chopping them very fine with a few celery leaves, a little parsley, a cupful of finely minced cold lamb or beef, crumbs, melted butter and a good seasoning. Stuff the onion shells with the mixture, pressing the halves together, lay in a well buttered casserole dish, pour over a cupful and a half of French tomato sauce and bake 40 minutes.

Stuffed Baked Potatoes. Select potatoes of uniform size, wash and brush over with melted butter or fat, and bake until done. Cut off the ends, remove the pulp and mash it smooth, adding butter, pepper, salt, the juice of an onion, a teaspoonful of very finely minced celery leaves, a teaspoonful of sugar, a dash of salt, a dash of ground nutmeg, and a heaping tablespoonful of finely minced cold boiled ham. Stuff the skins with the mixture, place on a buttered tin, reheat in the oven for a few minutes and serve.

Pork Chops on Casserole. Remove the bones from six good sized pork chops, dip them in melted butter, roll in fine, well-seasoned crumbs and lay in a well-buttered casserole dish. Sprinkle with minced onions and a half cupful of chopped pecan nuts, then turn in two cupfuls of well-made tomato sauce, smooth and slightly thickened, cover and cook in a medium oven and baste the chops with the gravy. Serve in the casserole. Escaloped Tripe and Oysters. Wash and stew until tender a half-pound of tripe, drain and cut in small pieces. Drain a quart of oysters. Wipe a deep dish with a cut bud of garlic, then butter it well, place in a layer of oysters, dust with pepper, salt, sprinkle with crumbs and dot with butter. Place a layer of the tripe, dust with pepper, salt, dot with butter and sprinkle with crumbs, a few minced celery leaves and a little grated cheese. Continue until all materials are used, making the top layer of the crumbs, seasoning, grated cheese and little lumps of butter. Turn in a cupful of cream and bake 25 minutes or until a delicate brown on top, taking care not to let the dish become too dry.

FASHION FRILLS
PARIS.—The more a material looks like suede the more fashionable it is for a certain type of late autumn topcoats. These coats are very soft and rich in appearance, and lavishly trimmed with fur.

PARIS.—The tendency at present is toward the ensemble suit of a dull shade or of black. The costume depends for its great effect on the tunic blouse, which gives it great brilliance when the coat is removed.

NEW YORK.—A pair of the cigarette tongs used abroad in place of a holder, was recently brought back from the other side by a New York woman. They are of silver and look like tiny sugar tongs.

LONDON.—Those marvels predicted at a recent fashion show have come true in the dining and ball rooms of the Savoy. A fur bushy—which is a high-crowned hat of fur—has been seen in the dining room and already there have appeared several fur wristlets with sleeveless gowns.

Where Men Never Receive Money for Their

SUPPOSE you had to work sixteen hours a day and not get paid for it. Would you do it? Of course you wouldn't. Very likely you would rebel against a custom or law so unjust.

In Egypt, things are different. In that country, the men ardently toil at their chosen tasks, and receive not one cent of money in return. Instead, they are obliged to accept the equivalent of money, depending on the nature of the work.

If a man is employed to thresh grain or wheat, he receives the grain or wheat. If he is a weaver, he receives the cloth. If he is a potter, he receives the pots. If he is a farmer, he receives the crops. If he is a soldier, he receives the honor. If he is a man of letters, he receives the respect of his fellow men. If he is a man of power, he receives the obedience of his subjects. If he is a man of wealth, he receives the admiration of his neighbors. If he is a man of virtue, he receives the love of his fellow men. If he is a man of wisdom, he receives the guidance of his fellow men. If he is a man of courage, he receives the praise of his fellow men. If he is a man of strength, he receives the respect of his fellow men. If he is a man of beauty, he receives the admiration of his fellow men. If he is a man of grace, he receives the love of his fellow men. If he is a man of kindness, he receives the respect of his fellow men. If he is a man of honesty, he receives the praise of his fellow men. If he is a man of integrity, he receives the love of his fellow men. If he is a man of justice, he receives the respect of his fellow men. If he is a man of mercy, he receives the praise of his fellow men. If he is a man of compassion, he receives the love of his fellow men. If he is a man of forgiveness, he receives the respect of his fellow men. If he is a man of patience, he receives the praise of his fellow men. If he is a man of gentleness, he receives the love of his fellow men. If he is a man of meekness, he receives the respect of his fellow men. If he is a man of mildness, he receives the praise of his fellow men. If he is a man of sweetness, he receives the love of his fellow men. If he is a man of goodness, he receives the respect of his fellow men. If he is a man of kindness, he receives the praise of his fellow men. If he is a man of love, he receives the love of his fellow men.

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN By HELEN ROWLAND

WHAT MAKES THE WORLD GO 'ROUND!
IT IS VANITY that makes the world go 'round. Once, we thought it was love; but now that love has become almost as rare as buffalo and buckwheat cakes; and almost as antique as the Dinosaur, the world seems to be spinning faster than ever.

A man's idea of a "heavenly time," is to sit beside an open fire, sipping his favorite beverage, and listening to a pretty woman telling him how wonderful he is.

A girl's idea of a "heavenly time" is to sit in a canoe, under full moon, and listen to a good-looking man, telling her how wonderful she is.

Let the girl be telling the man how many jars of plums she put up, or the man be telling the girl, how he made that great score in golf, and the whole thing would be a dud.

Every friend is a looking-glass, through whose eyes we see ourselves—and we always like the flattering ones best.

An honest opinion may be good for the soul, but it is as hard to swallow as castor-oil or quinine, or anything else that's "good for you."

Nobody except Diogenes ever went around with any real enthusiasm looking for an "honest man." What we are really looking for is a nice, cheering Ananias, who will sugar-coat the truth for us.

A man may plead with a girl to be "perfectly frank" with him; but the first time she remarks, "You are a dear, but you look like a human spider in golf knickers, and a nameless sorrow in a bathing suit!" she will find herself alone in a cold, cold world.

A girl may implore a man to tell her the "real truth"; but just let him hint that he loves her in spite of the fact that she is fat or plain or stupid and he will wonder where the cold breeze came from.

You may rob a man of everything but his illusions about himself, and he will still be able to get along in the world and be happy.

You may strike at a woman's heart, her faith, and even her dignity and she may still love you; but one blow at her vanity will lay love out cold and stiff in his little grave.

Vanity is what inspires most of our virtues, and all of our charms, accomplishments and achievements.

Vanity is two-thirds of love, three-quarters of ambition, and at least fifty per cent of aspiration.

Take away a man's vanity, and there won't be much left—take away a woman's vanity, and there won't be anything left.

Oh, yes, it is vanity that makes the world go 'round!

CHEESE DISHES FOR FALL By Hannah Wing.

AT NO time of the year are hearty cheese dishes more welcome than on snappy fall days. Cheese is now recognized as a substantial food, not as a mere relish, and a number of luncheon and supper dishes have been developed which rival Welsh rarebit in popularity. A cheese soup furnishes food value enough for a one-dish meal if supplemented by a salad or a fruit.

The simplest way of making cheese soup is to make a thin white sauce of a quart of milk and two tablespoons each of butter and flour. A tablespoon of onion juice and two of chopped parsley are needed with the cheese to give it a pleasing flavor. With this amount of milk three-fourths of a cup or even a whole cup of grated cheese may be used.

A medium white sauce with as much as half a cup of cheese to a cup of milk makes an excellent sauce to serve with vegetables, various scalloped dishes and croquettes. Minced green pepper or pimiento is often used with this.

The type of cheese soup usually served in hotels is made from hot, well seasoned meat stock with grated cheese poured over beaten eggs and served at once. This soup requires two eggs to a quart of stock and will curdle if allowed to stand.

Cheese souffles, custards, croquettes, timbales and combinations of cheese with potatoes, beans or other vegetables in loaves make hearty, substantial meals. Many of these cheese dishes are very good served with a horseradish sauce. One made from a cup of meat stock thickened and seasoned with a tablespoon of butter, a tablespoon of flour and two tablespoons of horseradish has a very good flavor.

A simple and popular cheese left-over dish is made in the form of a souffle. The recipe follows: Two cups mashed potatoes, one-quarter cup of milk, one-quarter cup grated cheese, one-half teaspoon of salt, pepper. Combine the mixture and beat until light and fluffy. Drop by spoonfuls in greased muffin pans. Brush over the tops with a beaten egg and brown in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

Census statistics show that there are 253,836 women dairy farmers in this country.

Women Democrats in Maine have contributed prize cooking recipes for the "State of Maine Cook Book," which will be sold to housewives to swell the party's campaign fund.

A canvass is being made among the women in England to enlist their aid in having the word obey eliminated from marriage ceremonies.

egg, painted a bright color, in his fat, and each of the players, in turn, tries to break the eggs held by the others.

Why Farmer Brown's Boy's Melon Took No Prize

The prize is never yours till won.
Nor task completed till it's done.

—Farmer Brown's Boy.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY left the house whistling. He was on his way to the melon patch in the garden to get the big watermelon he was sure would win first prize at the fair a few days later. All the way to the garden he whistled. He had visited that melon just before dark the night before. He had been tempted to take it up to the house then, but had decided to leave it on the vine just one night more.

He entered the garden and made his way to the melon patch. Then he looked eagerly for his prize melon. He stopped whistling abruptly. With a cry of dismay he ran forward to where his prize melon should have been. All that remained of it were scattered pieces of rind. The juicy, red meat was gone. Farmer Brown's Boy was very near to tears as he stared at the wreck of that beautiful prize melon. A great lump was in his throat. Never was there a more disappointed boy.

Then bitterness and anger filled him. His first thought was that some boys in the neighborhood who had known about that melon had come in the night and feasted on it. He clenched his fists and declared that he wouldn't rest until he had found out who had done this and had made them pay for it. He tried to think what boys were mean enough to do such a thing. But he couldn't think of one that he could honestly suspect.

Then it popped into his head

With a cry of dismay he ran forward to where his prize melon should have been.

that a tramp might have come along and discovered that melon patch. For the first time he thought of looking for footprints. He looked and looked and looked, but the only human footprints he found around that melon patch were his own. This was queer. It was very queer. It seemed as if the thief or thieves must have left a footprint somewhere.

Farmer Brown's Boy returned to the remains of his once beautiful melon, the melon that now never would win a prize. Anger had given way to puzzled wonder. Who could have eaten that melon? The more he thought it over the more he realized that boys or men would have been likely to carry that melon away and not break it open and eat it there. But, think as he would, he couldn't think of anyone but boys or men who would want a melon to eat. Once more he made a careful, very careful search for human footprints. His own were all that he could find.

Farmer Brown's Boy had come to the garden whistling. There was no merry whistle as he slowly made his way back to the house to tell the news of the loss of his prize melon. Once more he was very close to tears, for his disappointment was very great. And oh, how he did wish he had taken that melon to the house the night before, as he had been tempted to do!

The faces of Farmer Brown and Mrs. Brown were very grave as they listened to the story of Farmer Brown's Boy. They didn't like to think that they had any neighbors who would do such a thing.

"It must have been bad boys from the village," declared Farmer Brown. "Somehow they must have learned about that melon and come up here for a feast last night. You know there are boys who seem to think that taking melons isn't stealing. It is. It is just as much stealing as taking other things that do not belong to them."

"But how could boys have done that and left no footprints?" demanded Farmer Brown's Boy.

JUST A SIMPLE SUNDAY PROMENADE

SOME years ago the musical union of New York passed a rule to do away with "doubling"—that is, to stop a man from jumping, say, from a tuba in a band to an orchestra cello. The spirit of the rule was, of course, to give employment to as many individuals as possible.

Then the union designated a number of one-man committees to see that the order was obeyed. Sunday was the likeliest day for infractions on account of the number of picnics and outings, and the ferry houses made natural lurking spots for investigators.

An agent thus assigned approached the New York end of the journey to Hoboken. Ahead of him was a German with a tuba over one shoulder and who was also transporting a bass viol by means of a strap. From the rear the sight would have been mystifying to anyone but a musician, as it seemed to suggest an animated mountain peak equipped with legs.

The investigator overhauled the battery of instruments and asked sharply: "What are you doing?"

The Teuton knew he was trapped, but was inclined to stall, so he resorted to the old "Who, me?"

"Yes, you."

"Why, I ain't doing nutting. I'm chust out for a leetle walk."

THE PATIENCE OF A TRAVELING MAN

THIS once used to be a classic around the newspaper offices. A reporter who was covering the hotel news for his paper, gathering up gossip of new arrivals and the like, returned to the shop with a story.

"I butted into three traveling men talking in the lobby," he said.

"One of them, an underwear salesman, said the hot weather had put him almost out of business. He acted like he wanted to cry about it."

"The other two listened to his complaint for a while. Then the second one said:

"You've got no kick coming. Look at me, cheery and bright. I haven't made a sale since last February and yet it is the middle of August."

"He was selling rotary snow plows."

"Up to this point the third fellow hadn't said a word. Now he spoke up.

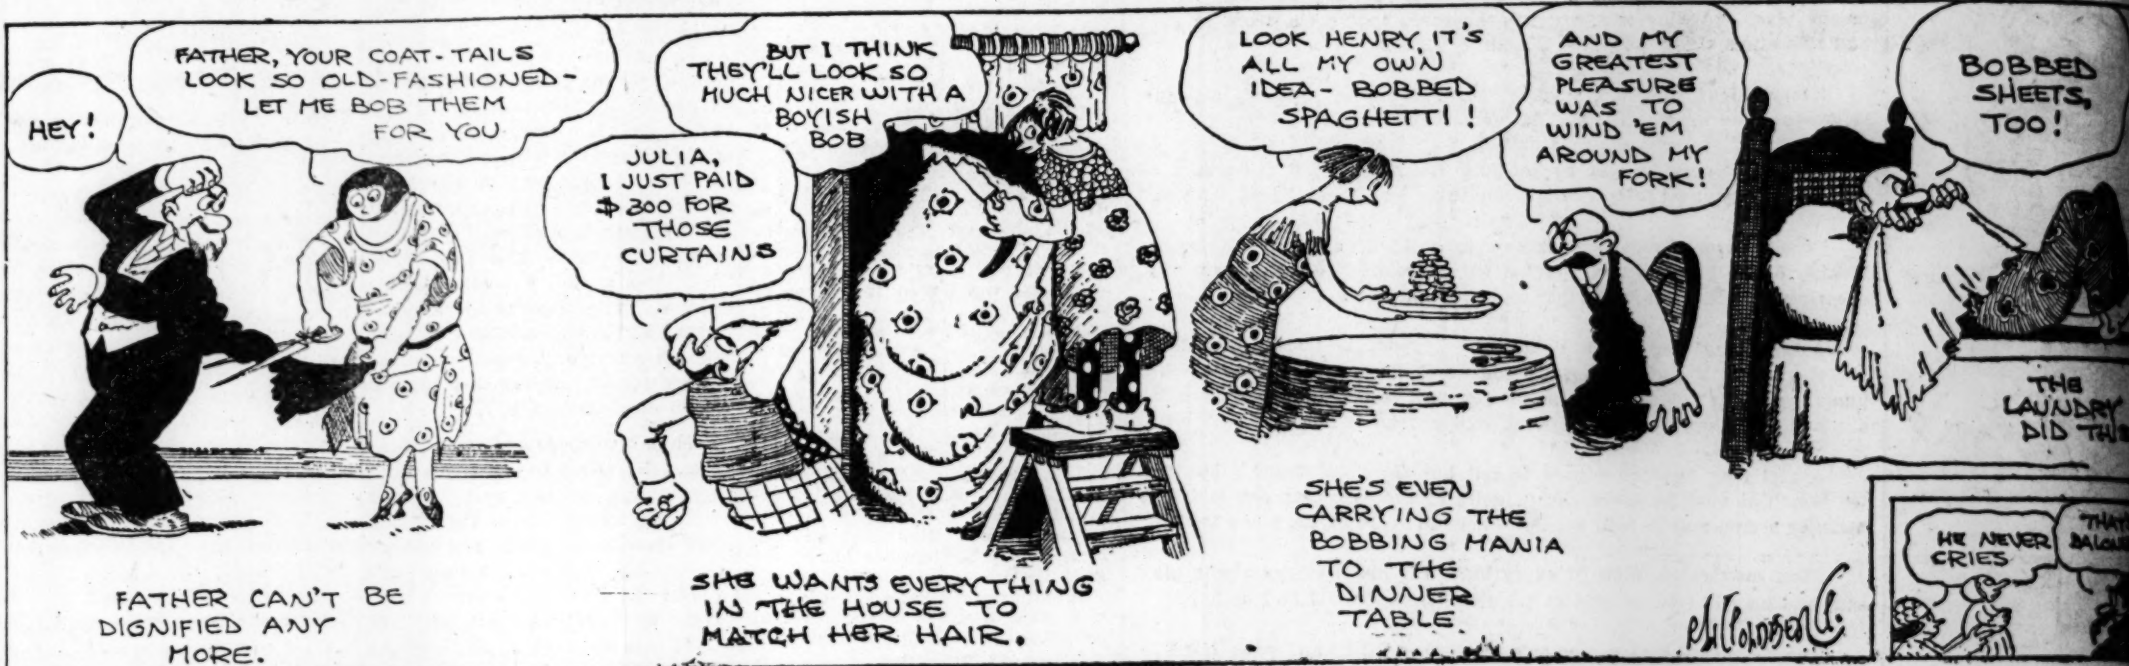

"That's nothing," he said, "it will be a year next month since I got an order."

"The other two turned on him.

"What's your line?" they asked in chorus.

"Suspension bridges."

GENERAL ELECTION
SET FOR OCT. 29

Socialist Leader Predicts That His Party Will Return to Power When Country Expresses Self.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 9.—The House of Commons will be dissolved tonight and a general election will be held Oct. 29, it was announced this afternoon after King George held a privy council at Buckingham Palace, at which he signed a proclamation proroguing Parliament.

The announcement of the date for the election, which will define the political complexion of the Government which will succeed Great Britain's first Labor ministry, was made after Prime Minister MacDonald, coming into the afternoon before the House, which last night defeated his Government, declared that the king had assented to his request for the dissolution of Parliament which will be prorogued tonight.

Irish Bill Passed.
The Premier also announced that the new Parliament would meet a week or two after the date of the general election.

At 6 o'clock this evening, the House of Commons was summoned to the House of Lords to hear the King's speech, read by the Lord Chancellor, giving assent to the Irish boundary bill, which previously had been passed by the House of Lords, and proroguing Parliament.

It was understood that the question of the resignation of the Cabinet was not touched upon at a conference this morning between the King and MacDonald.

Crowd Cheers Premier.
MacDonald left Buckingham Palace after an audience which began at 10 o'clock and lasted an hour. He returned immediately to No. 10 Downing street for a Cabinet meeting. As he made his way into the narrow street a crowd which had assembled in front of the prime ministerial residence cheered him, and there were shouts of "Good old Mac!"

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Labor government crashed last night after nine months of power when, at the age of a seven-hour debate, Tories and Liberals united in passing, by a vote of 364 to 198, a demand for inquiry into the withdrawal of a prosecution of James Joseph Campbell for sedition. Campbell, editor of the Communist Workers Weekly, was accused of inciting soldiers to mutiny and the opposition charged political pressure from Labor's left caused the dropping of the case.

Prime Minister MacDonald had announced beforehand: "If the House passes either of the resolutions (both Tories and Liberals introduced motions of censure) it will be the end."

The Commons outvoted the dissenting Conservative motion after Stanley Baldwin, Tory leader, had admitted the Government's explanation of the charges arising out of the sedition case had impressed him. He said the proper course would be not to censure the government, but to insist on a full inquiry as provided by the Liberal amendment.

Both MacDonald and Colonel Walter J. H. Thomas refused to accept the demand for an inquiry into a simple shake of the head the premier refused former Premier Baldwin's appeal that he accept a committee of inquiry which should be made up of members of the Liberal and the suffrage of all
